Capturing memories is what a yearbook strives to do, and the 1983 Paragon staff have promoted this idea in a unique fashion. With the support of the newly formed Alumni Association we have combined and contrasted not only memories of the past year but also of years passed. We have complemented new photos with old, blended recollections of a 30- year grad with a 1983 senior, and featured highlights of high school years that never changed- the prom, a victory over rival Strongsville, an expression of awe on graduation day.

A paragon, by definition, is a model of excellence or perfection. We hope we have done justice to this idea in this year's annual by providing you with a book rich in memories, presented in a way we hope you will find captivating.

—The 1983 Paragon Staff

The Bear family sticks together: The recently formed Mama Bears, here led by Mrs. Stolarski (right) mother of football player Hank, shared in memory-making experiences while cheering on their sons.
Louis Geanneses (above) is cause for Mr. Noble's concern.

Comparing Memories . . .

Mr. Louis Pay, our oldest living resident alumni, is called "Uncle Louie" by those who know him well. In fair weather Mr. Pay bicycles around town to save gasoline and to get exercise. Sunday mornings he can easily be spotted in his bright red hunting cap and red plaid coat as he cycles over to the Baptist Church.

In April Mr. Pay will be 90 years old. His graduating class of 1909 was the third graduating class of the old Royalton Road school. The four room school was located where the Board of Education building is today.

Over 70 years ago, Lajoie and Young, professional baseball players, were among Pay's favorites. High school as we know it did not prepare its students for careers. Apprenticeships, such as Mr. Pay's carpentry, served the purpose of today's Vo-ed. Pay remembered that "hang-outs" for students did not exist, because each student had more than enough work to keep occupied. Mr. Pay himself had a "built-in" part-time job in addition to school and apprenticeship. His family owned a dairy farm, and each morning and evening he milked cows.

Class pranks were another difference. They were forbidden and could result in school expulsion. But, for fun, Pay remembers going to class parties with Strongsville and Brecksville students (now Royalton rivals).

Mr. Pay, a retired carpenter, is still very active in town and church. He was responsible for the renovation and maintenance of the bandstand on the city green for the past several years.

Lucern Widig, his daughter and also a resident alumna, finds it hard to keep track of him. He is a volunteer fireman, and his favorite hobbies include rattlesnake hunting at the Okeene, Oklahoma, Rattlesnake Roundup. Still a dynamic man with a zest for life, Mr. Pay serves as an example and a living memory for all of us.

He wishes continued good luck to the class of 1983 and to all Royalton students.

Taking and making memories: The familiar sign on the front lawn bids welcome to oldest resident alumni Louis Pay as well as all alumni, current students and staff and displays our motto for this year. All participants help to make the motto become reality.

Presenting the class of '83: 137 girls and 126 guys with a little something extra. Every class possesses its own special memories, but this year's class is unique. They not only have memories of this year, but through their parents and siblings — many NRHS alumni — they can experience memories from years passed. Throughout the senior section we focus not only on our seniors but their alumni dads, moms, sisters and brothers to learn what being a senior was and is today.

The Media Center, one of the favored haunts of senior Jim Downing, was not built when his father attended NRHS. Jim has been active in the Media Club throughout his years at NRHS. Below, Jim takes a few moments to explain to his fellow seniors Chris Geary, Pam Geither, Sue Rauser, and Scott Berkes that working the A-V equipment of the Media Center will be one of his lasting memories.

To the right, on the next page, Jim's dad pauses to share a bit of his son's world by looking around the Media Center. A-V equipment did not play as big a part in his education.

"Daddeo"'s Memories Compared

Clark Gable and Doris Day glided across the silver screen; Bill Haley and the Comets were the rage; and the hit song "Rebel Rouser" played incessantly on the jukebox at Manners.

To seniors today, who form sellout crowds to see Sylvester Stallone and E.T. and try for one last glimpse of The Who in concert at the Coliseum, these recollections of 1958 NRHS graduate Mr. James Downing seem foreign. Favorite memories, heart throbs, and fads of Mr. Downing's graduating class of two and a half decades ago are vastly different from those of his son Jim's, the class of 1983.

For instance, seniors today are as hardworking as ever, but where and how they work are different. Mr. Downing was employed as a caddy at Seneca Golf Course and as a pinsetter at Royalton Lanes—two jobs virtually obsolete now. However, Jim Downing and his classmates are working in positions at McDonald's, Burger King and shops at Parmatown.

News stories were as exciting or as tragic a generation ago as they are today. Sputnick, the first space satellite, was launched in 1957, and Gary Powers made his disastrous U-2 flight. Features today include Tylenol murders, mass unemployment, and video crazes.

Two friendly ladies in the kitchen are NRHS alumnae and mothers of '83 class members: Mrs. Karen Wolf, at left with her daughter Lisa, and Mrs. Betsy Bena, on the opposite page with her son Joe. In 1960, when Mrs. Wolf graduated, her favorite teachers were Mr. Bush and Mrs. Bournival. She believes that kids today aren't much different except that then they had more school spirit. Mrs. Wolf's favorite memory is the band trip to New York in 1959. Lisa's involvement has been with the IOE program.

In 1956, 56 students graduated. Mr. Bush was the class adviser and Mrs. Bena's favorite teacher. Some of her favorite memories include senior cut day. Everyone came to school and ran out of the building, girls out the back doors and guys out of the front. "Nobody stayed," she says, "not even the brains." The day was spent cruising all the roads with the lights on. Teachers seemed to care more about each student, she feels, and kids were more involved because they didn't work at part-time jobs as much.

Today, Mrs. Bena, at work in the cafeteria, is often helped by her son Joe. Joe feels that his favorite senior memory will be his involvement with the soccer team.

Sweethearts' Memories

Senior memories of Cheryl McCue and Brian Griffin (right) will compete with memories of their recent engagement. High School sweethearts Kathy Hayes Swim (class of '76) and Ed Swim ('75), (left), married after graduation and are now building a home in Royalton. Kathy is a former Pragon editor and sister-in-law Darenda is carrying on the tradition. Kathy remembers the red, white and blue wardrobes of the Centennial year and the Seals and Crofts song, "We May Never Pass this way Again." Yet, so many Royaltonites do. The Swims wish Cheryl and Brian and all the class of '83 good luck!

Luverne and Jack Nelich (right) knew each other during their years at NRHS but did not date and marry until after graduation. In the 28 years since Mrs. Nelich graduated (in 1955), many changes have occurred. Favorite movie stars of daughter, senior Wendy Nelich, and the Class of '83 are Robert Redford and Sally Field; Mrs. Nelich's heartthrob was Farley Granger—the Lone Ranger. In 1955 Planters Peanuts and Elvis Presley reigned; not so today. Hanging out at McDonald's or Angie's is a pastime of today; in 1955 the seniors cruised through Manners or York Inn wearing rolled up jeans, poodle skirts or saddle shoes and hefting ammunition bags as purses. Mrs. Nelich feels that her senior class had more fun because the members were more closely knit. Disagree, Class of '83?

Memo From The Officeholders

Also on their minds and in their memories will be the close friends they have made, the great senior parties, the fun on the slopes, and the bluegrass crooning of the Hotfoot Quintet!

In addition, they will remember the moments such as pictured below, during which they discuss class matters.

Daddeo And Kelly - Oh!

In addition to Kelly Truce's senior accomplishments of being a soccer team member and being elected Winter Homecoming Queen she has a father who is very proud of her. Carl Truce is a 1957 NRHS graduate who remembers nicknaming Principal Bill Nelson "Alias Wyatt Earp" and presenting Mr. Nelson with a special Earp buttline gun. His class changed the sign on the Principal's door to "Marshall's Office."

Mr. Truce was on the Paragon staff and played football. He remembers the song, "Love Letters in the Sand" and the catchwords, "Hey, Daddeo!"

Kelly and her dad compared their respective NRHS jackets recently, although Mr. Truce's had "shrunk." He had a parting message for the class of '83 which he had already told Kelly: "Work hard in your studies, prepare yourself for the future, but always have something else you can fall back on in case your projections do not materialize. Life on the outside is not peaches and cream. You might have to switch professions or trades. Never give up. Look on a goal; don't give up on education. The more you get the more you need. I wish all the students the best of luck in the future." Kelly has been carrying out some of her "Daddeo's" advice already.

Senior Favorites . . . Now And Then

Some things change a lot . . .

Erik Vokac above, models one of the fads which '83 seniors felt was most popular, the Punk look. Seniors surveyed felt that this fad and the Valley Girl fad were widely popular, although they do not practice them much for their school dress, and the fads will probably be short-lived.

Seniors were also asked about their favorite clubs, cars, outfits, sayings, teachers and foods.

After an endless day of school or a mind-altering crack at the books, our seniors satisfy the "grumbellies" in several ways: Doritos, with tantalizing Nacho cheese flavor, are the head-ups winner. Cheeto's cheese puffs, baked or puffed, is the runner-up. And, a snack of a milk-chocolate candy bar is good enough to satisfy senior taste buds.

Other results are:

Favorite car:	(1st) Mustang (2nd) Camaro
Favorite club:	(1st) Sports (2nd) Ski
Favorite saying:	I'm sure
Cafeteria food:	fair to bad
Prepared for college:	yes

Further results follow:

Some just a little . . .

Alumnae parents of seniors gave Mrs. Bournival and Mr. Bush as some favorites.

Mrs. Bournival and Mr. Bush as they appeared to our alumnae parents.

Mr. Bernie Kroviak was voted favorite teacher of the senior class because of his friendliness, concern and good teaching.

Some not much at all!

1955 students model jeans favorites in front of the school. Find the parent alumnae.

Survey results listed jeans and t-shirts, sweater, or shirt or Izod as the overwhelming favorite outfit. Above, Loretta Pabin, Dianne Dupak and Jackie Jusko model current jeans outfits.

Royalton alumnae parents ate "natural" snack foods (except for dunking Planters Peanuts into 7-Up) and wore jeans and shirts. Some favorites have been modified; others haven't changed much at all.

Transformation-Pranksters To Promsters

Meeting for the last time (Above left) Craig Felton and friends gather at "their" cafeteria table to celebrate the last day of senior classes. Recognizing that it was an affectionate gesture, Mr. Gibson (above right) surveys the "roll job" of his office by prankster seniors.

The note to Mr. Gibson said that they didn't want to hurt anyone or cause any damage, and the Class of '83 didn't. They wanted to say goodbye before they dressed up as ladies and gentlemen and danced their way to graduation.

Prank '83: With ropes around it, this "token" of farewell appeared to have been lowered from the roof into the courtyard during the night.

Transformation: King and Queen Joe Brandt and Cathy Anderson demonstrate regal poise.

Kris Metzger and hundreds of thers at prom crammed the crowded dance floor.

Commencement Forecast: Early Showers But Many Bright Days Ahead!

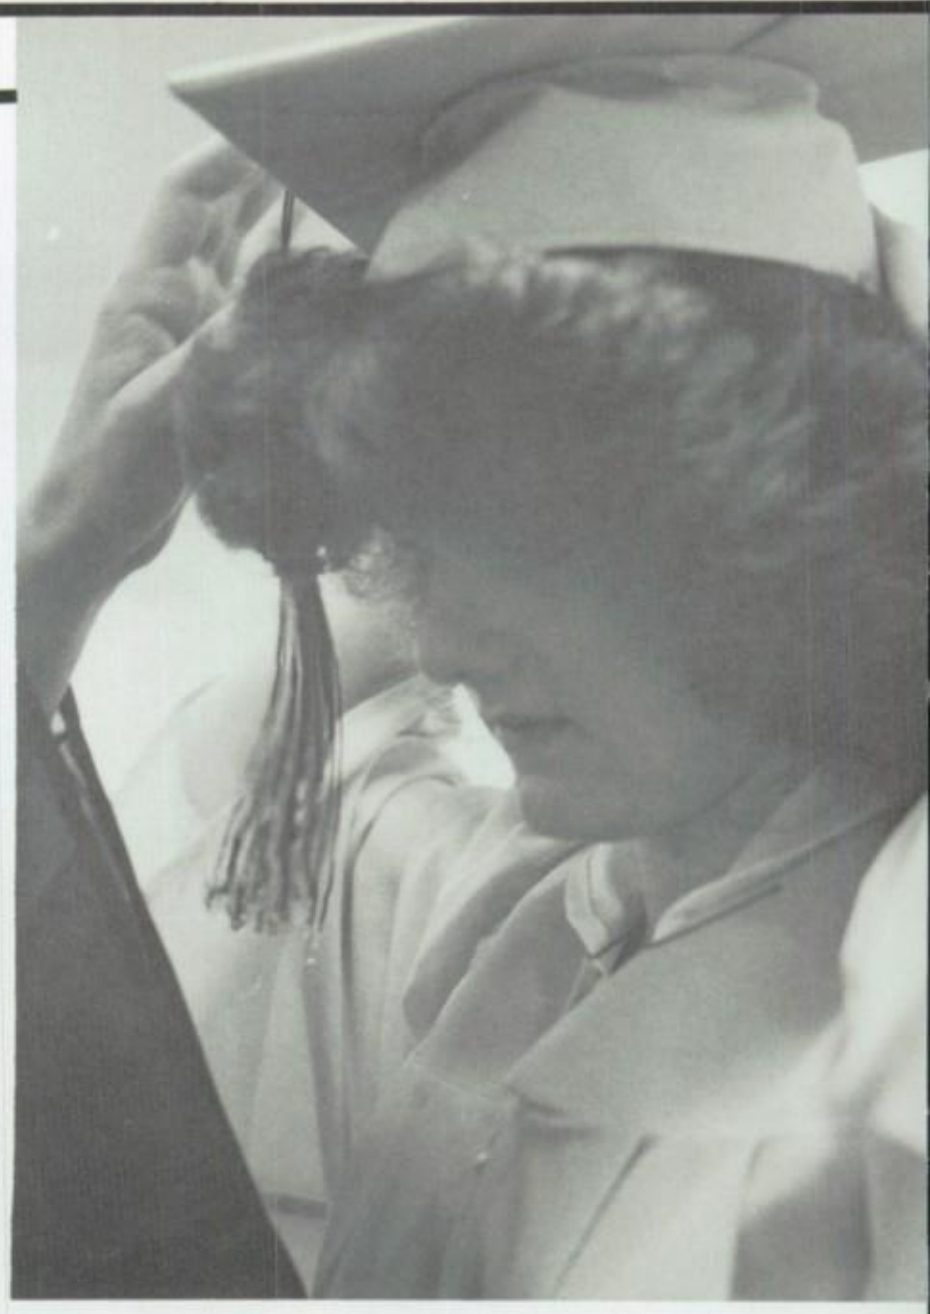
(Music furnished by the High School Band Under the Direction of William Park)

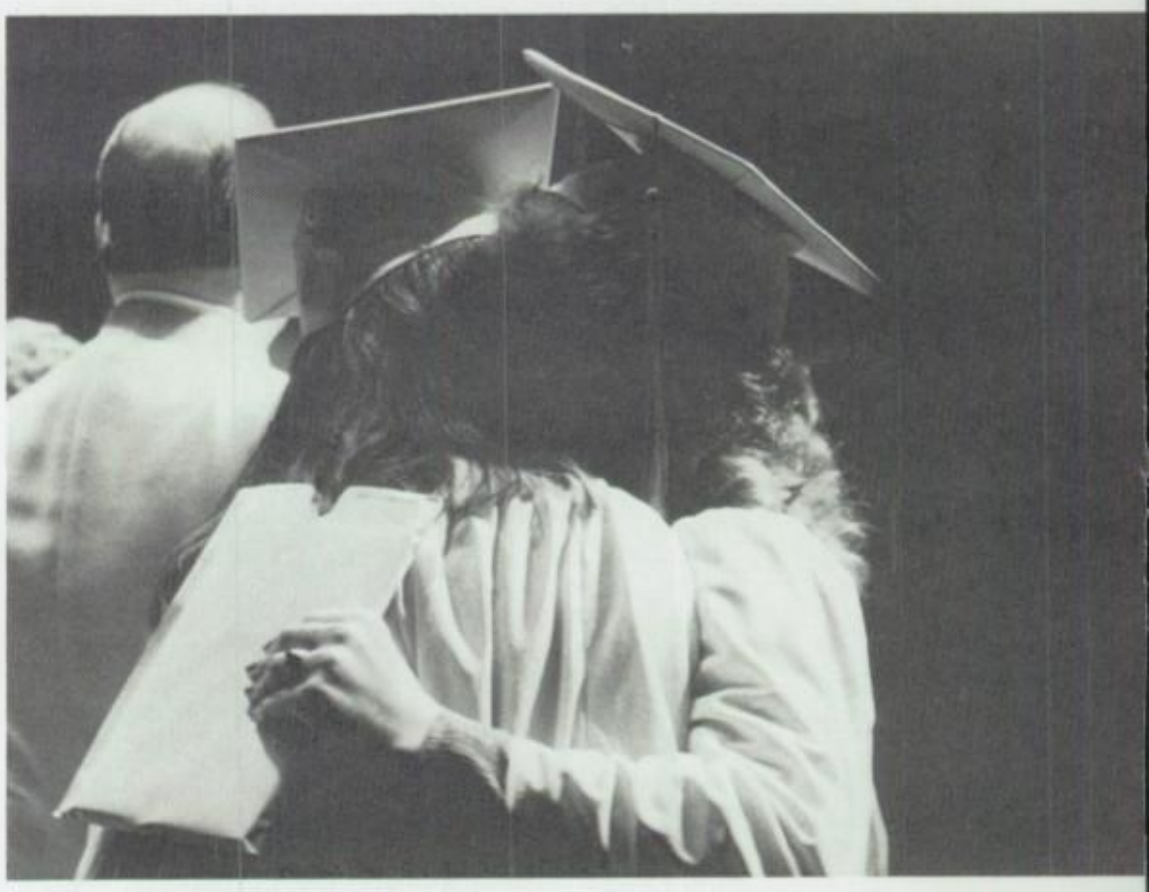
Graduation from High School is a milestone in the life of a student and his family. The dignity of the occasion can best be observed by refraining from "Whistling or Applauding for Any One Student." Your congratulations can best be shown by applause for the total group after the last graduate has been awarded his diploma.

* (THE AUDIENCE WILL PLEASE STAND)



With a helping hand from Dave Basch, Kathy McTigue secures her slippery cap with yet one more bobby pin.

Caps and gowns have practical purposes: Judy Grabowski and other seniors make a dash for the school busses to Akron.

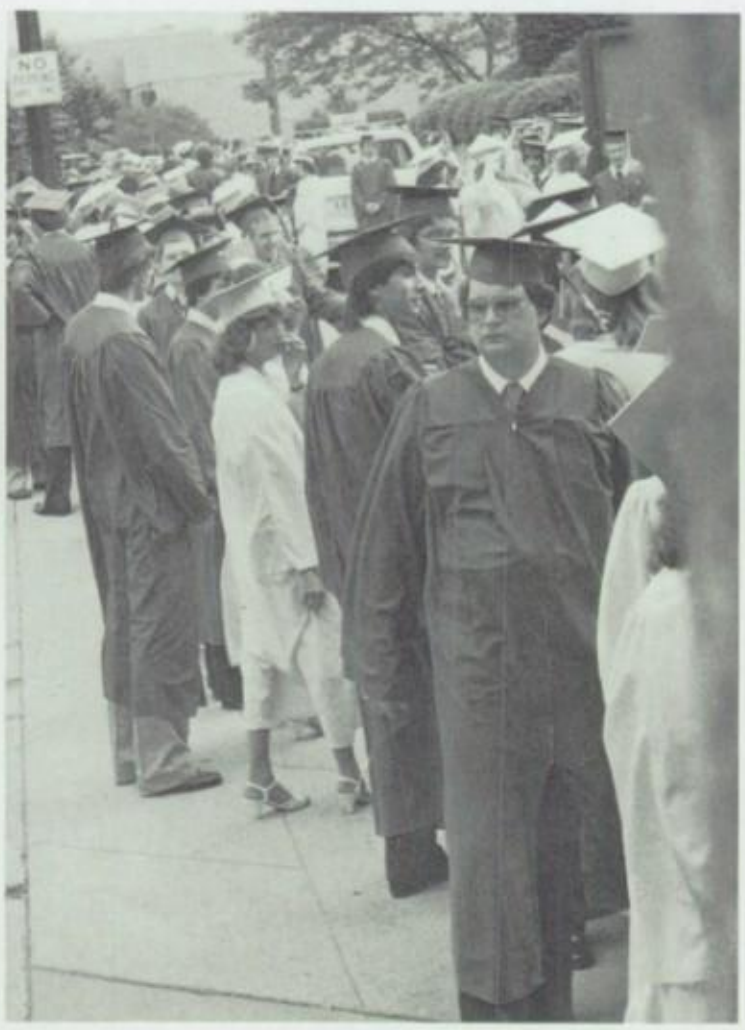


Celebrating the final moment, class president Melanie Hritz congratulates Lisa Rolinc at the end of a long receiving line and the beginning of another road.

The Special Ways We Said Goodbye . . .

The bus ride to E. J. Thomas Hall is long, but Tamiko Toboshi and Marianne Bandelow pass the time by chatting quietly about cultural differences, recent memories, future plans, and even the weather, which causes the hairstyles but not the spirits of seniors to sag.

Valedictorian Lisa Wenz urges classmates to set and keep goals and dreams.



With collars and caps all pinned, seniors line up in order and wait to file in.

Finale:

The range of emotions matched the changeability of the weather on Sunday, June 5, as the class of '83 departed.

Many remembered the recent death of classmate Tony Novak and searched hard but unsuccessfully for the black armbands which were to have been worn in his memory.

A heavy downpour began just as seniors began to board school busses, but the 35 minute ride afforded plenty of time to repair any minor cosmetic damage before arrival at Akron University E. J. Thomas Hall.

Remembering one's place in line and where to sit after leaving the stage became temporary preoccupations as students lined up outside.

Senior girls were each given a long-stemmed white rose, the class flower, as they came through the stage entrance and into the hall, crowded with murmuring and appreciative relatives and friends.

Smiles and waves, tear filled voices combined with music, congratulations, advice, and praise, and a loud roar completed the ceremony.

For Hank Stolarski and a few friends, the fountain outside the hall afforded another opportunity for merriment. Then, all went their separate ways . . . the best they could be in '83.

The Student Council memories were of many devoted ones. They participated in the Senior Citizens Day at Mill Stream Run, the Wild Horses Christmas Dance, and many important programs (leadership and scholarship). The fall homecoming was a great success.

The one moment they will remember most about this organization is their service to the school and the community.

During regular meetings, members participate in decsion-making. Karen Kohler, Carolyn Kehoe, Jim Schnieder, Karen Orr and others listen to correspondence read by the officers and vote on requests.

Clerical II

The IOE Clerical Bulletin Board reads "Dropping into Success," but earlier in the year raindrops were falling on the heads of the Clerical II students. On a memorable field trip to downtown Cleveland, both Senior IOE classes waited in the rain for an RTA bus on the wrong street corner! This adventure was only one of many during the IOE class's memory packed year. Beth Krakowski best remembers the day after simulation, while Jill Bates vividly remembers break times. Also letting her stomach rule her remembrances is Chris Vozar, whose favorite occasions were breakfast and birthday parties. Jeanine Bisler and Tammy Vokac summed up the singular unforgettable time for the majority of the group: the OOEA activities and (stomach talk again) the banquets.

In addition to field trips and food, members participated in a lifesaver lollipop fund raiser and prepared a Thanksgiving charity food basket. IOE has existed since 1967, but this year's experiences, service and skill-learning will long live in the minds of these future secretaries.

Steno II

The 15 members who make up IOE Steno II meet for three hours a day, 2nd through 4th period. These girls, upon Paragon inquiry, shared favorite in-school as well as outside-of-class memories. In class (for what seemed like endless hours) they typed, worked on office machines, and took shorthand. Out of school they lunched, munched, took in a fashion show, installed officers at a breakfast at Gretchen's Smorgasbord, and donated time, food, and money to the North Royalton hunger center. For fifteen years the IOE Steno II class has been making friends and preparing for their futures. These 1983 senior secretaries will never forget the special moments and special friends that IOE brought to them!

The members who make up IOE Clerical One believe they will most remember "the hard work." However, other memories are happier ones of parties, friends made, field trips to Eaton Corporation and B.F. Goodrich. A luncheon at Red Lobster provided Mr. Oberst with a very busy day and his own unforgettable situations. A banquet in the spring along with the other IOE students wrapped up the 16th year of this organiziation.

Marie McDermott enthusiastically exhibits her expertise at adding machine exercises.

The IOE Steno I members list several favored memories. Along with journeys to Eaton and B.F. Goodrich Chemical Corporation, the other highlights included a luncheon and fashion show at May Company downtown and Valentine flower distribution. Outstanding, however, was the IOE Banquet in May, when awards were received for achievement in skills, leadership and perfect attendance. The IOE Steno I club has been in existence since 1970 and has brought much success to our striving secretaries.

Working To Build

Co-operative Office Education

The fifteen members of the COE class have learned the value of leadership, making friends and skills which they will need to be good secretaries. They are in school working for first and second period. Then they leave school to go to their place of employment, where they can use their skills in real office situations. Their memories include the conference on leadership, the mid-winter conference, and several skill contests.

The OWE class consists of 10 members and has existed for 10 years. The class participated in the Annual Food and Clothing Drive, travelled to the Justice Center downtown, and had a Bowling and OWE Banquet this year. Several members described their favorite memories. These included the excellent smorgasbord breakfast at Gretchens Restaurant, the scary feeling of no freedom observed in jail at the Justice Center. The outstanding moment was the excitement and fever which the OWE students showed toward playing touch football. All in all, it was a terrific year!

Receiving A Pass,

Lettermen's

The Letterman's Club is one of the larger clubs in our school. The club participated in many different activities. They ran the concession stand for all basketball and wrestling matches and used the profits to pay for trophies, awards, and the Annual Lettermen's night.

This club consists of about 60 members, and every one of them participated in making this club so memorable. Special memories of members were eagerly related. Denise Santell remembers, "getting my lettermen's pass;" for Mark Rein it was "receiving my lettermen's jacket;" for Leah Hanwell it was "receiving my letter." For this group, it's one great memory after another.

"There's no people like show people," go the old song lyrics, and they aptly apply to our wild and wacky Thespians and Drama Club members. The members of these two groups are crazily applying make-up, building stage sets, rehearsing lines, preparing their vocal chords and choreographing dance steps year round to provide top-notch entertainment. This year's production, Oliver and You Can't Take It With You, were successful smashes. Keep on rehearsing!

Honored for their academic achievements are the members of the National Honor Society and the 9th & 10th Honors Club. While theorizing the physics of the universe and calculating logarithms, these clubs still managed time to participate in several activities and make memories. NHS, composed of juniors and seniors, donated Resuscitation Annie to the health classes, sold colored carnations to sweet, innocent, sexy, and stuck-up students and breakfasted at the Holiday Inn. The one occasion its members will remember forever is the candlelit ceremony at the induction of new members.

The 9th & 10th Honors Club followed in its big brother's footsteps. The club sold "Entertainment '83" books and fruitcakes and travelled to the library and Columbus. Exciting memories for the members were the presentation of electric podiums to the school and arguing politics with their legislators in the state's capital. Keep having fun NHS and 9th & 10th Honors Club and keep up the grades.

Three clubs in Royalton High School concerned with the arts in some form are the Paragon, Royal News, and Humanities Clubs. On the literary side, the yearbook and the newspaper staffs worked hard to write copy, meet deadlines, and avoid panic. Though staff editors respectively Jackie Jusko and Darenda Swim (Paragon) and Elaine Contranakis and Anna Bonnacci (Royal News) will never forget the seemingly endless hours of backbreaking work and exhausted typewriters, good times were had in this frenetic year. Clad in their work duds, strengthened by cookies, many Paragoners aided in the paint job which gave their room a whole new look. An annual sales day to convince local businessmen to invest in the book was a valuable experience to all. The Royal News staff surprised and shocked students with their computer match-up, while they sold caramel apples to help finance the paper. The most durable memory for all these writers was the mailing of the final pages!

The Humanities club was formed to give NRHS students a taste of culture. The twenty to thirty students have been extremely active this year. Nicholas Nickleby and the Cleveland Ballet's Coppelia were viewed while the Cleveland Orchestra concert at Severance Hall pleased the ears. All of the students' positive reactions made it a memorable year for all!

Making Memories From

French Club

The French Club, one of the three language clubs existing in the school, consists of fifty members. The group has been around for twenty years and has experienced many fun activities related to the language of love. Under the watchful eye of the Terminal Tower (Cleveland answer to the Eiffel) the French Club attended a field trip to the Cleveland Art Museum to view a special exhibition and sampled real French cuisine at an elegant restaurant. Probably the most exciting memory was the trip to Canada where members saw how the French lived and experienced their customs. Another great year for our foreign travellers!

German Club

Involved with another country in Europe is the five-year-old German Club. The club's members did not just sit around in '83; they enjoyed a rollicking hayride, and they celebrated Christmas and Halloween with parties. A busride out to the Convention Center proved musically entertaining as the German Club enjoyed the sounds of the Stratton Mountain Boys. To feed their empty stomachs after a long day the members gorged on a large variety of foods at the Hofbrau House. The group's favorite memories were of each other, sharing in activities with some of the best organized, pleasant, and good-humored people around.

Rain and consistently warm temperatures threatened to drown the 1983 ski season as Ohio skiers witnessed, to their horror, a sub-tropical winter. Crossed fingers and voodoo incantations finally paid off, however, as snow began to fall in spurts, sufficiently blanketing Brandywine. With the aid of artificially produced powder, the hills opened and Royalton skiers invaded the slopes. Skis, boots, poles, and goggles came on as skiers engaged in their #1 winter recreation. Beginners learned the basics and after a few weeks ventured up to Big Brandy, while experienced veterans chose to tackle Champagne and Zombie. Though the weather was not always spectacular, (occasionally slush and mudholes reigned) Royalton skiers persevered and made the best of the situation.

Royalton skiers Tony LaMann and Matt Lawler stop to aid an unidentified "spill" victim from another school.

Several unfortunate skiers, namely Tom Thomas, suffered mishaps and river dunkings.

Steve Karoly and Co. find riding up on the lifts to be an exciting experience.

For beginners as well as old hands Brandywine Ski Area provided memories which would last a lifetime. Struggling into boots and skis was not always an easy task, while numb fingers found taking them off could be an even more difficult chore! The physical sensation of arms being yanked from their sockets by a merciless tow rope left an impression on many vulnerable bodies. The first time up the chair lift proved exciting for beginners while the seasoned skiers shrugged it off nonchalantly. Many things can happen between the top and bottom of a slope, and Royalton skiers felt these in a variety of ways: Accomplishment after a successful run, grimaces of pain as legs bent in unbendable positions, frustration as a lone ski sailed down the hill unaccompanied. Whatever the case, Brandywine was the favorite club of the senior class, and it provided all of its members with unforgettable memories.

Media Club

The Media Club, is existence since 1977, has 11 members. Though the club is small, memories abound from the members themselves. The many parties were the highlights of the club. Darenda Swim, the club president, remembers the Halloween party and time spent with Jim Downing. "Jim and I stayed until the bonfire almost burnt out." Debbie Martinez remembers the Christmas Party, "I saw a fun side of everyone I never knew existed." Miss Hess, the club advisor, remembers the decorating of the media center: "I have never seen such a mess in my life." Jim Downing, the vice-president, remembers the bonfire and Darenda, "I never knew she could talk so much." For the club as a whole, the decorating of the media center was the best part of the year. Everyone had the chance to make a mess of the media center and eat pizza on the couches without Mrs. Krejci yelling at them.

Society: Studying And Remembering

In 1968, after a football game, Miss Kobs and her friends would parade down to the cafeteria for a victory dance, win or lose. Admission was only 25¢.

Miss Kobs, a '68 alumna, was very active in the band. Some of her fondest memories were of the many antics that occurred. She was also a GALS member. The Lettermen's club then was off limits to any girl. Today, she states, the men have found the error in their ways and allow the women to participate in their once "exclusive" club.

One of the greatest advantages of being active in GALS, NHS, and other clubs was she managed to successfully not attend a single study hall after 8th grade. Now, as fate would have it, she has to attend study halls more than ever since even teaching Government doesn't eliminate that duty.

Everyone has a heaven, but when asked hers, the only reply was a wishful smile and a fond look.

Business: Skills You'll Never Forget

Who will ever forget the smell of locker cleaning fluid? John Buettner won't, although he and Mr. Skorepa would like to. Cleaning of lockers is only one of the jobs of Mr. Skorepa's OWA students.

Mr. Skorepa, a 1964 graduate, went to school when Stetson white shoes with pointed toes and thin ties were in. His graduating class was considered one of the largest then with its 156 members.

Mr. Skorepa began teaching at NRHS in 1970, and each of his classes has had its uniqueness. One difference throughout the years has been the change in attitude toward teachers.

The clubs and sports he was active in during high school were Lettermen, football, basketball, and VP of his class. The caf food, he says, was the same as now: pizza on Wednesday, fish on Friday, and surprises in between. But, the desserts are better than ever.

Imagine, if you will, over 200 students carrying boxes, books, tables, and chairs through the athletic fields and down the hill. On that school day in early 1952, a ceremony was held as the cornerstone was installed in our present building. This was the time when Ernest E. Root was the superintendent. Since that move from the old Royalton Road School, this building has been our official home, and Mr. Grumbling has spent much of his time here.

He was one of 47 graduating Seniors of the class of 1952 and has been teaching here at Royalton Since 1958. His years at NRHS have seemed "long" to him, but he has enjoyed every year of the 25 years of teaching and the students he has taught.

Mr. Grumbling remembers the occasional "Canteens" when students came back to dance. He thinks the styles and times have changed, but the kids themselves really haven't.

In memoriam

Those who knew Mrs. Sauter will always have the best memories of her. She went about her job here as the guidance department secretary in a conscientious, organized fashion. Though she was an efficient, capable secretary, she was also a wonderful person. She was pleasant to and concerned about people, and she was very supportive of our school.

Mr. Saniuk Says His first year teaching at North Royalton was "Strange. I felt weird teaching with people who taught me. But, they were very friendly and cooperative."

When he first started teaching here in 1975, girls had to wear dresses all of the time. Mr. Saniuk commented, "They had to bend down (on their knees) and if their dresses didn't touch the ground they were sent home." Mr. Saniuk now sees in students a more practical approach to their education.

Discipline seems more practical, too. "I remember walking down the hall holding a girl's hand and Gibby would almost tear my head off. Now he only gets on you if you're moping around in a corner."

Administrative Staff-(row 1) Mrs. Couch (row 2) Mrs. Masseria, Mrs. Behm, Miss Gutzman, Mrs. Cochran

Mr. Osterland remembers his student days.

Mr. Osterland says the kids had a lot more school spirit when he graduated from North Royalton High School in 1959 than now, but we have more spirit now than when he joined the school board. He says the change in times seems to affect the amount of spirit shown by students.

Most of the students of his small class were in football, cheerleading, or the large band; everyone was involved in something. There were no cliques. Each of the 89 graduates knew each other and their teachers well. The teachers were concerned and involved with the daily lives of their students. For instance, the government teacher would bet a football player that they would win or lose the game that was coming up.

Over fifty percent of his graduating class went to college after high school, and three have received doctorate degrees, including himself.

Mr. Osterland chose to open his law office and join the school board because he loves his community. His grandfather practiced law for 55 years, so it seemed natural to him to set up his office here. Since he and his wife graduated from Royalton, he has his office here, and all of his girls went or are going to Royalton, he cares very much about this school and town.

What Could Be Worse Than Transferring To A New School In Your Senior Year? That's What Pat

Melhuish, our loyal librarian, had to do in 1947. Arriving after three years spent at James Ford Rhodes, she found the friendly atmosphere of our then-country school appealing. The year '47 was a good one; the athletic teams were conference champions and respected contenders. Some thirty years later, Mrs. Melhuish returned in the role of Media Center library aide. Her daughter Beth is a senior, and certainly in thirty years' time she will contribute another generation's memories.

Mrs. Uffman's 1944 graduating class of 28 would fit into one of our classrooms, where as the class of '83 would require more than 10, with its 263 members.

Rollerskating is what Mrs. Uffman and her friends did for fun. Royalton had a roller-skating rink then. Students walked almost everywhere because few had cars. School spirit overflowed and everyone appreciated each other's talent. No jealousy or rivalry was shown by anyone. That is Mrs. Uffman's heaven: No chaos and accepting everyone as they are. She was on the Royal News Staff and participated in "lunch hour" basketball games because there were no leagues for girls.

Mrs. Uffman subbed for 10 years before beginning full time work in 1975. Times have changed, but the enjoyment she receives from working with kids never has.

Mrs. Schulte, a 1945 graduate, remembers when she was a cheerleader at NRHS, and the winning team won the golden boot from Brecksville.

After school, one student hangout for soft drinks and munchies was "Orr's"—where the Century 21 building is now.

Thirty-two students graduated but not all were at their commencement. World War II was being fought, and four boys were in the service. They received their diplomas in the mail.

Mrs. Schulte has enjoyed working the 17 years here. She has seen many changes. "The school's program has improved, and the advantages are better for us now."

STUDENT LIFE

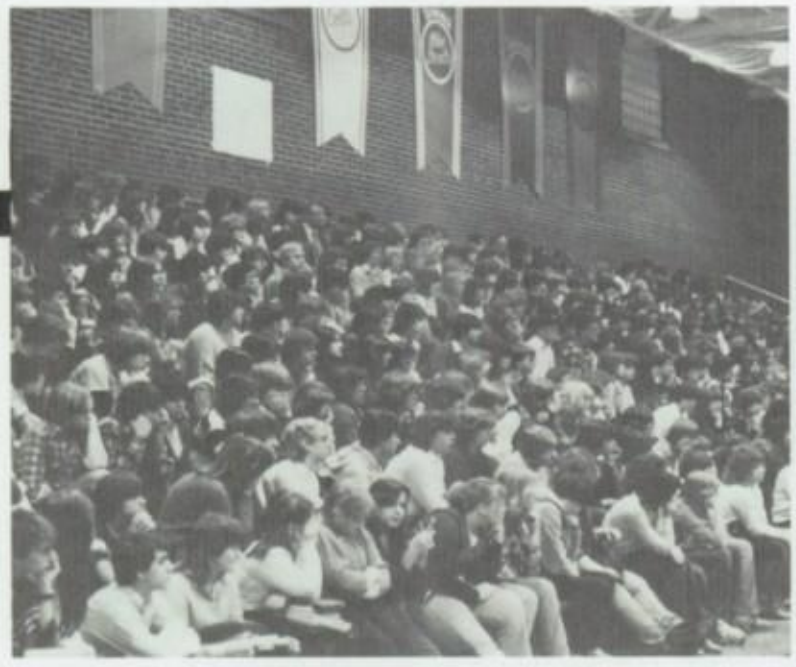
Exchange Of Memories

One of my outstanding memories of this past school year is the memory of a lost little girl, who eventually found her place in a foreign world.

Tamiko was the first exchange student I ever really knew well. When we met, she was shy and curious, asking questions about all that was said or done. She couldn't understand English very well, and I often had to repeat myself several times before she would comprehend what I was trying to say. However, it wasn't long before Tamiko had mastered English . . . that is, North Royalton teens' version of it, including slangs, like "jam," "get out of here," and "I'm sure!" Other signs betrayed Tamiko's gradual Americanization. She became friends with her teachers, greatly in contrast to Japanese students' relationships with their teachers, even to the point of stealing Mr. Dickard's stick! She was less shy, and she attended school affairs, including prom. Tamiko of the fall and Tamiko of the spring were very different.

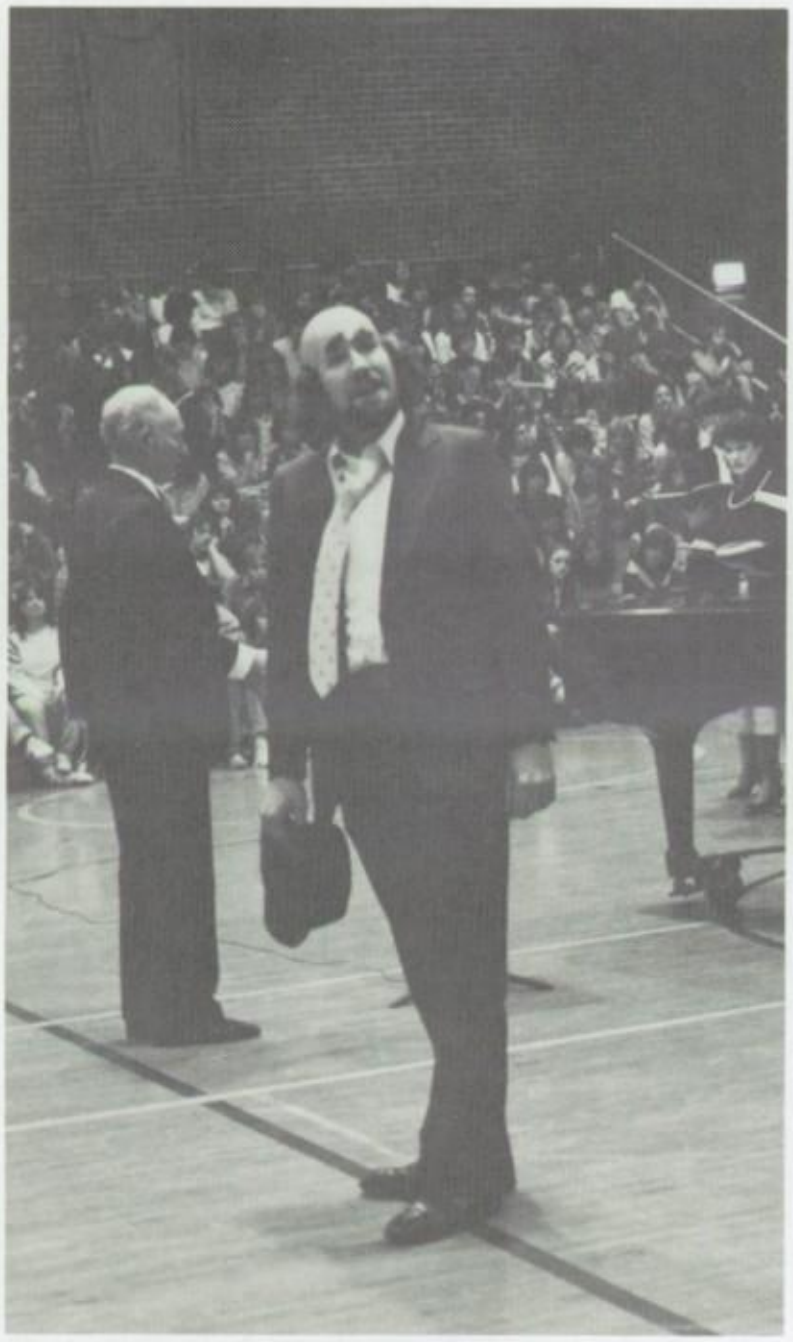
—Wendy Burnside

Remember The Odd Ones



Students were complimented for their politeness while watching the B.G.S.U. concert choir.

Liz Sanders is the proud "mother" of a 3-ounce egg in Marriage & Family Life class.



A B.G.S.U. baritone praises his mother in humorous song and captures audience attention.

"Ah-chocolate mousse!" Missy Demian is pleased to be concocting in French Class. "I think it needs a touch more soap."

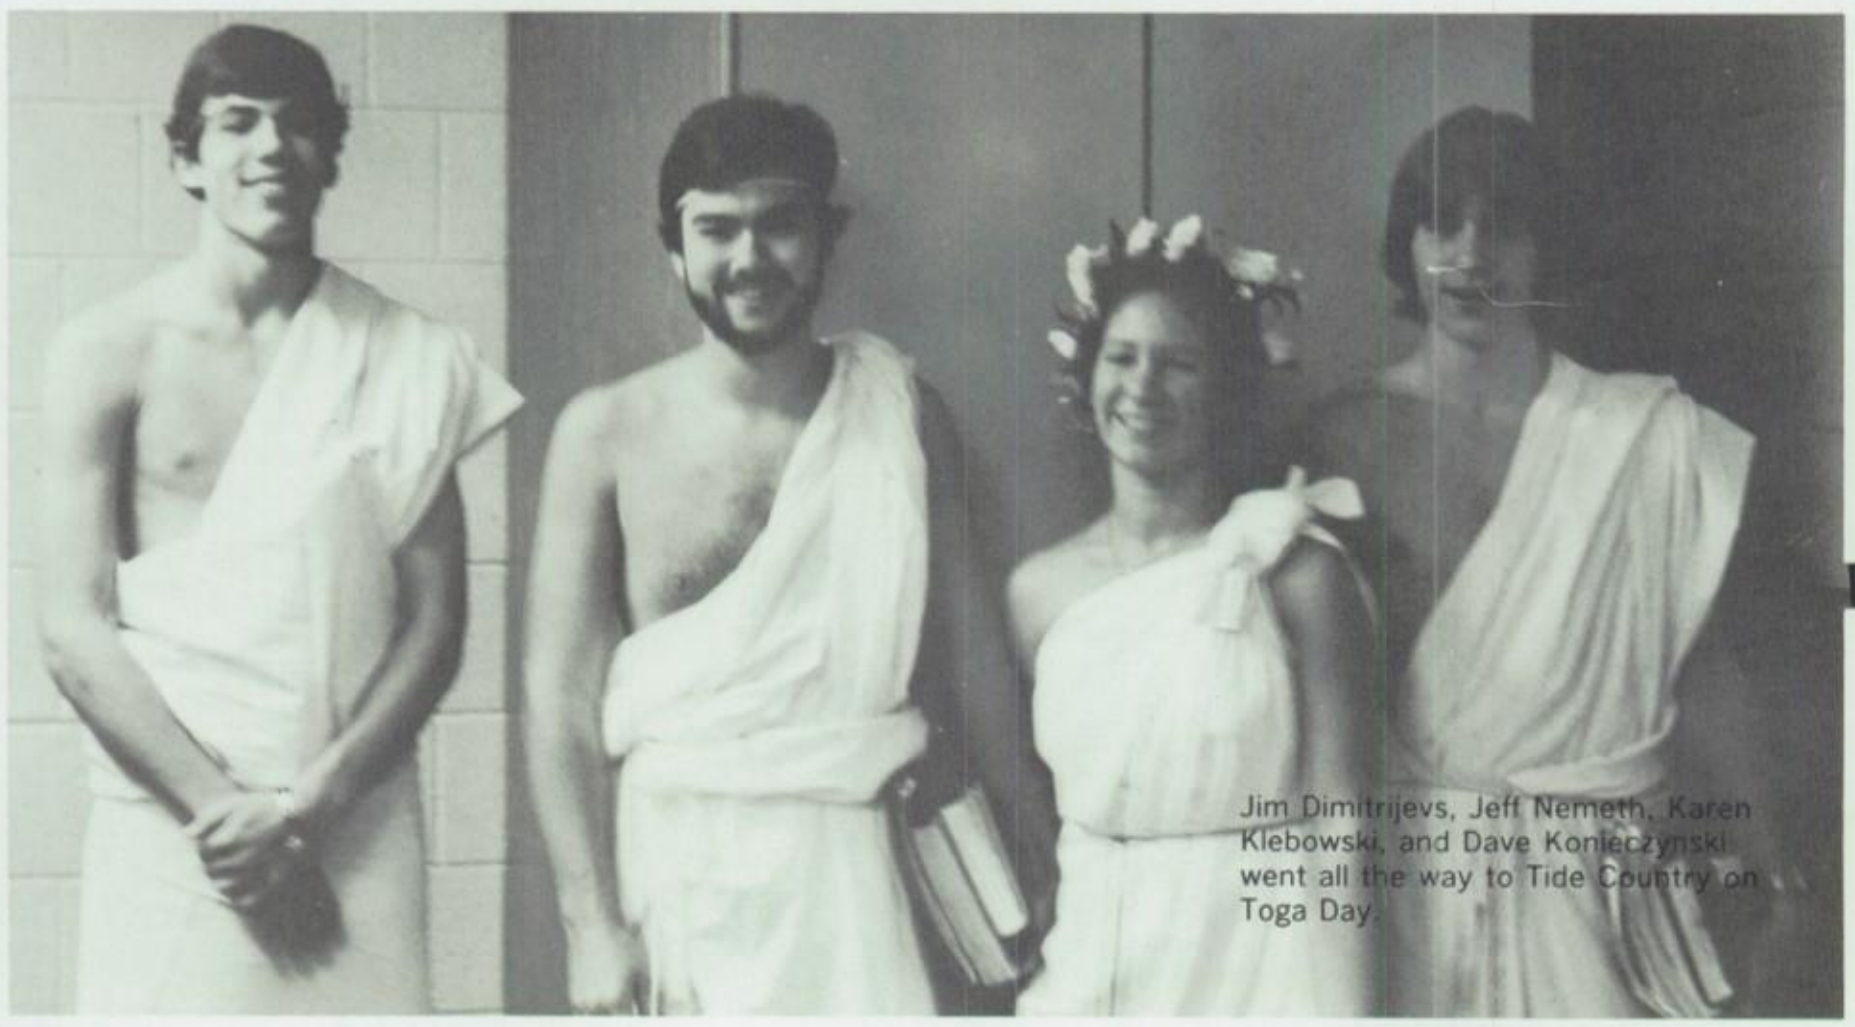
NR

Several students choose to participate in the many odd happenings that occur around school. If students were not whipping up a French delight of chocolate mousse, they got back to the basics with white togas or the modern look of the punk-preppie dress during Spirit Week.

Students also enjoyed the sound of the BGSU choir singing to a receptive audience. NRHS students became accustomed to strange appearances at their assemblies. Who else would have invited a bear to pep rallies?

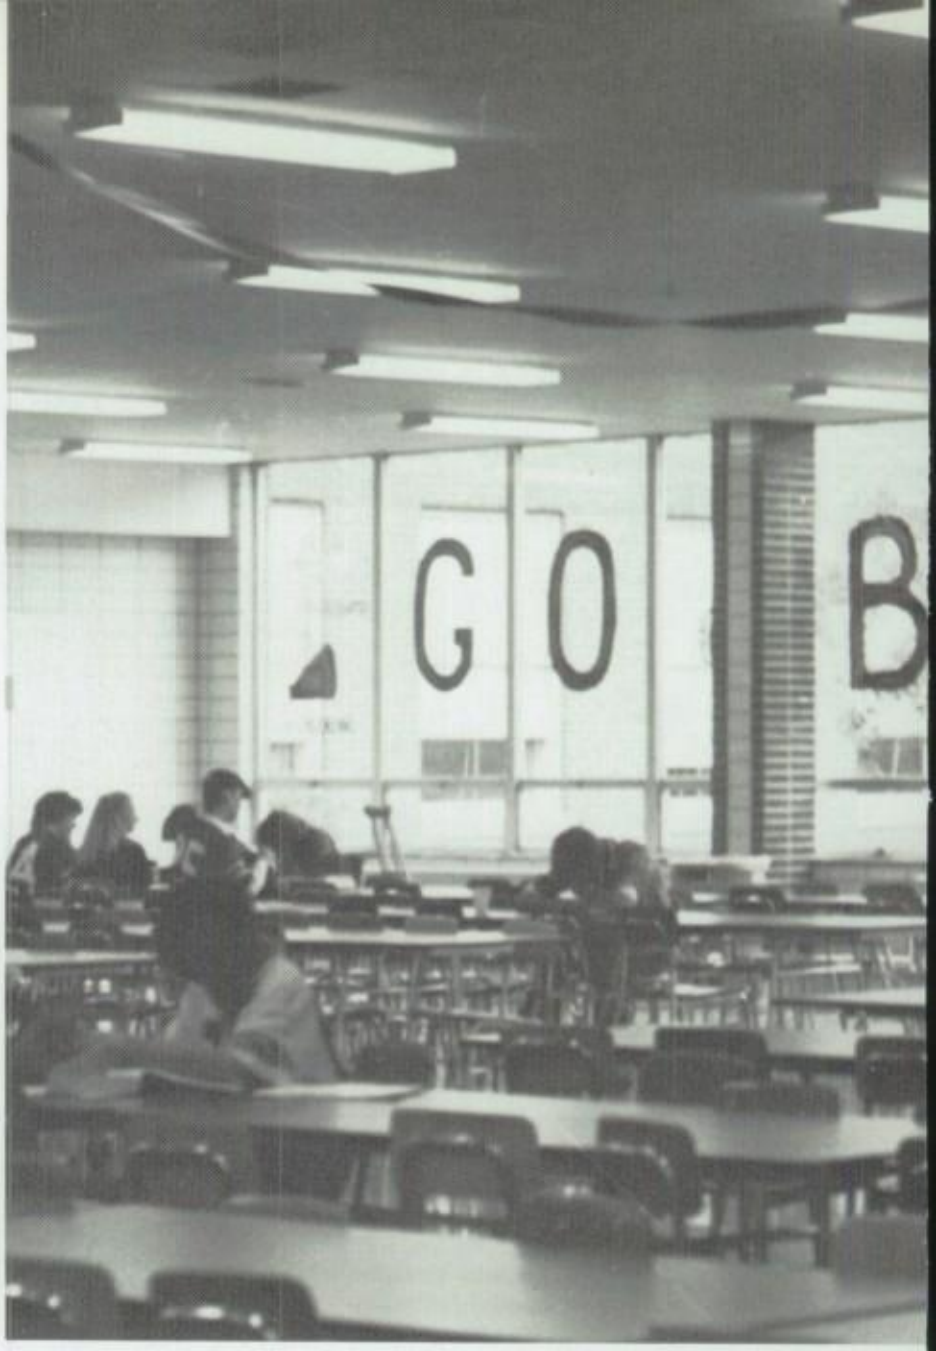
The N.R. Bear shows spirit at pep rallies, while the pep band adds encouragement.

Punk and Preppie Day, during Spirit Week, has many supporters. (Row 1)-N. Shoemaker, T. Lawrence, S. Rauser, R. Maurer, T. Kravchuk, P. Strandell, W. Susteric, C. McTique (Row 2)-D. Weenink, P. Geither, K. Greenwood, M. Rimke, S. Sanford



Jim Dimitrijevs, Jeff Nemeth, Karen Klebowski, and Dave Konieczynski went all the way to Tide Country on Toga Day.

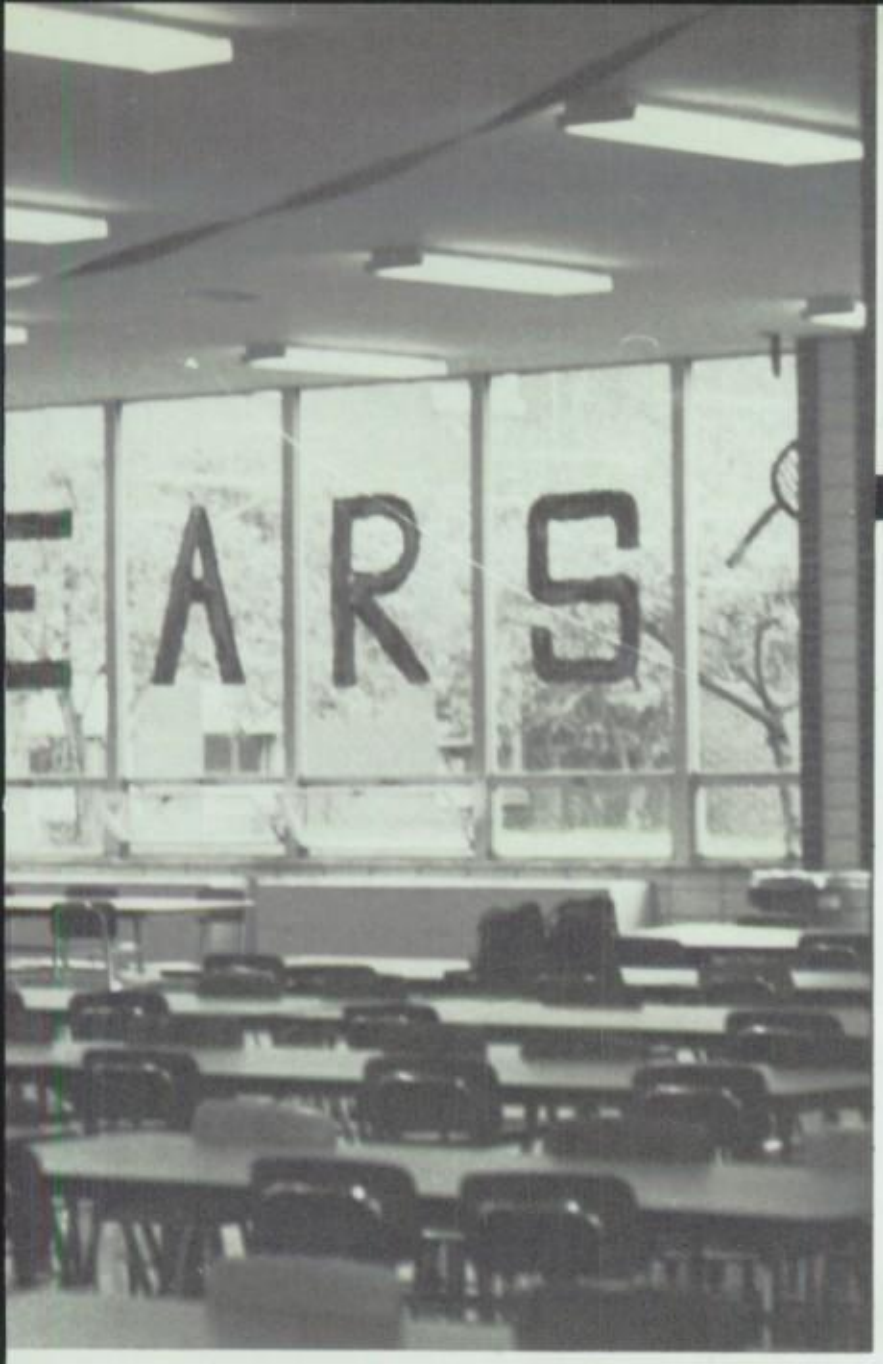
Nobody can forget the days cafeteria staff serve submarine sandwiches, 25¢ an inch. Mrs. Ackman is busy cutting while Eric Morley waits for his turn.



Cafeteria-Remembering More Than Just A Place To Eat Lunch

Our cafeteria is not only a place to meet and eat with your friends, but it is also a place to take care of some business, like buying-selling of class rings, payments on your Paragon, and tickets to many school activities.

Not only does our cafeteria serve lunch, but it is also one of the few schools to serve breakfast, if we don't have time in the morning to make one for ourselves, or if we're still hungry. Joe Bena, who helps in the cafeteria in the morning, gives change to Dennis Belinski.



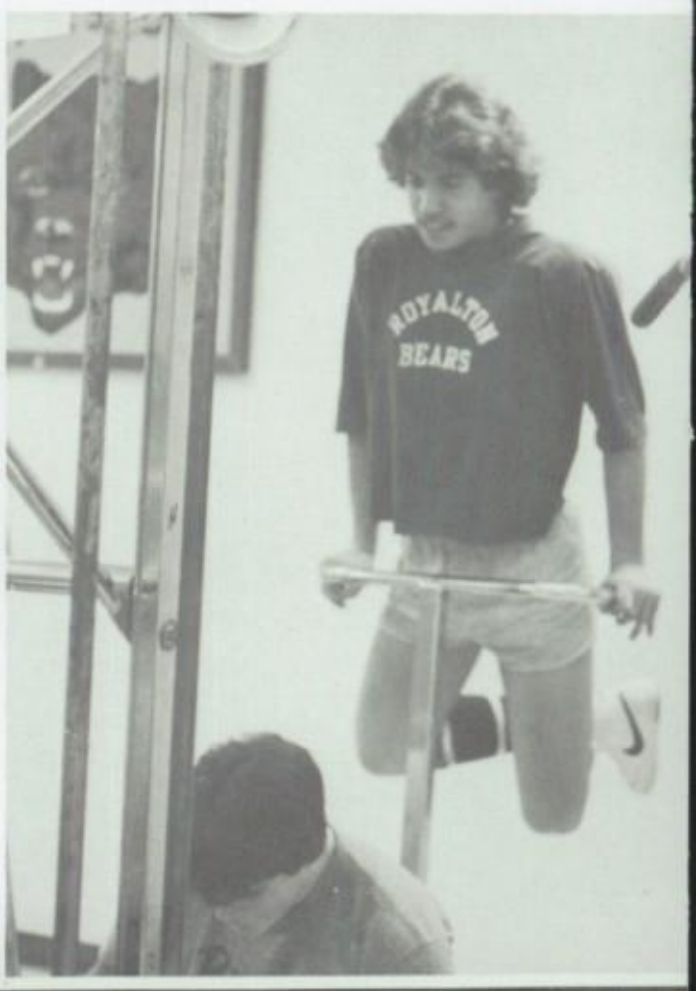
Our cafeteria can be quite a busy place to be. Not only do we use it for eating, but also for wrestling practice, school banquets, and junior and senior study halls.

Our seniors will never forget all the great times they have shared with each other, like gossip or their great sport victories, as Dan Stadler, Melanie Hritz, Todd Gerst, Pat Potopsky are doing here.

Not everybody enjoys having hot lunches, as Danya Doty shows us, by buying twinkies for lunch.

The Old School Doesn't Look The Same . . .

Some new looks were the new windows, insuring more warmth and more economy



During this school year, the weight room was moved from a small room off the mini gym, to a room next to the cafeteria. Along with the new location, they added murals to the walls and carpeting to the floor. This Bear, Dan Rice, practices bear business instead of monkey business.

Bright changes-Paragon work isn't all writing and typing, as Judy Semmelroth, Darenda Swim, and Robin Wilkes set out to transfrom room to bright yellow.

Obviously, the old school doesn't look quite the way some alums remember it, but that doesn't mean they can't "go home" to visit and to see the changes.

The school has a new look this year in more ways than one. A practical as well as eye-pleasing change was the installation of new heat-saving windows. In late winter, the new "Bears' Den" weight room was completed, and carpeting was laid in early spring. The Paragon room looks much brighter with its new color and the mural by W. Nelich.

In January, 1983, a handful of 1982 grads returned to see changes and to discuss contrasts between high school and college life. Some older alumni returned in April, 1983, for an Alumni banquet held in the cafeteria. National Honory Society and Junior High Honors students served. Later, prizes were given for "alumni superlatives". Robin Peth, who served, said, "The food was delicious, and it was interesting to see old friendships being renewed."

Some of last year's seniors, Tammy Peth, Geri Schneider, Cheryl Schmook, (Behind) Debbie Koch, and Theodore Bunevich, come back to tell upperclassman what college is like (so far) for them.

But You Can Still "Go Home"

During the Alumni Banquet, the alumni are served by students from the Jr. High Honors Association and National Honor Society. Serving some after dinner coffee, James Doering accidentally steps on Jim Stolarski's foot.

Alumni study the displays of graduating class of the earlier years; one of them was Mr. Uffman.

Fame- Alumni members featured in the Royalton Recorder, Plain Dealer, and other publications are displayed for the reunion.

Our learning here is not always with books. One of the best ways to learn is by experience. Students are learning by experience every day at the Cuyahoga County Joint Vocational School. The rest stay here at N.R.H.S. and learn by other means. It seems that we are forever taking notes and listening to lectures.

In foreign language classes tapes are used to help express the pronunciation of each word. Other teachers; are using visual equipment such as movies, filmstrips, slides, and even television.

The students here are not always using books to learn by. Memorable experiences and media help us.

Preferring the more relaxed atmosphere of the Media Center, Norma Matusek completes her assignment by using the reference materials available.

Uniqueness Unlocked

We sometimes hide our "secret" personalities when we are in school. Many of us do not want to appear eccentric around school, unless, of course, "everybody's doing it," for instance on a Spirit Day. But, our lockers give us the chance to express our personalities and our creative ideas. Only when we open them do the lockers reveal those true but secret sides of us.

Since they are "homes away from home," personal spaces in public places, and great spots to meet friends, our lockers are significant parts of our school lives and reflect significant parts of us!

Rock and roll is the only way to go in Steve Zsilko's locker.
Caralee Binder's and Sherri Rybka's collections reflect their appreciation of "finer" things in life, and they are proud to display them.

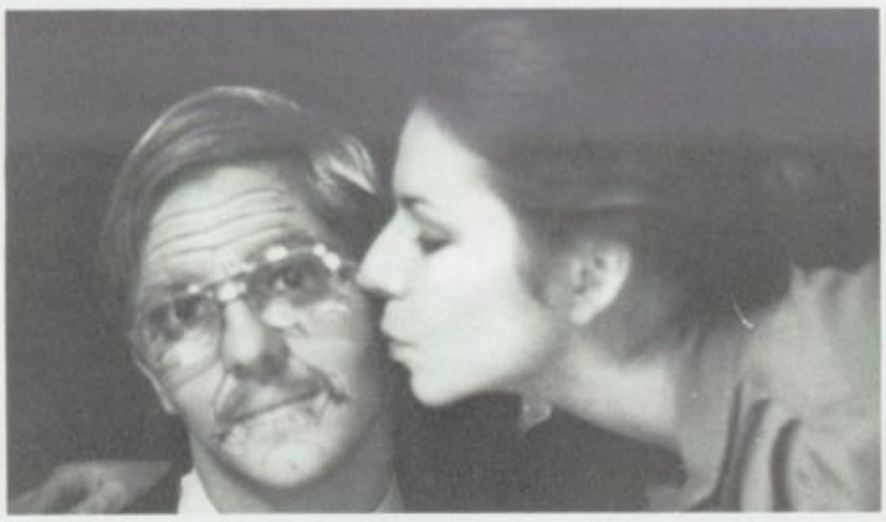
The Memories Aren't Necessarily That Dramatic . . .

While most people may remember the plays Oliver and You Can't Take it With You, they don't know about the great memories made backstage. Performers and crew members had a bundle of fun on and off stage and had a chance to share their talents with others. Some distinct memories are shared by the drama members . . . for example, who could forget:

-The time the cat jumped off the desk and hung itself!
-Obscene messages to Pam Geither in her typewriter!
-Scaring Chris Geary with the snake
-Steve Karoly's toga and sexy legs
-Scot Neufer's ability to play the xylophone before he reached it
-Pink and blue hair
-"The Rocky Horror Picture Show"
-Fagin's Box
-the gruel
-Krislyn Colbert's baby pillow
-"Oom pah pah!"
-the runway
-Eric Vokac's worms

Is it real? Scott Berkes and Chris Geary-still together after all these years?

Essie (Jeannie Staton) is mortified at Gay Wellington's (Jill Bates) little burlesque ditty.



After he steals the show, Grandpa (Scott Berkes) receives a congratulatory kiss from Alice (Pam Reed).

Fagin (Erick Lowe) tries to teach Oliver (John Webb) the fine art of pickpocketing.

Kathy Fife and Muffet wait in the costume shop (far left).
Music was everywhere in Oliver! Jill Bates borrowed a Walkman radio to listen to the tunes without bothering anyone (middle).
Even though rehearsals were long and tiring, cast members found energy during final rehearsals (above right).

"A good luck kiss to rub the wrinkles away," declares director Mrs. Curtis to Erick Lowe.

Illusions on stage are often accomplished by makeup. Debbie Prahl puts the finishing touches on Erick Lowe (left.)
Bill Sikes (Ron Kosiba) tells pickpockets, the Artful Dodger (Scott Ineman), Fagin (Erick Lowe), Nancy (Debbie Saniuk), and Bet (Jeannie Staton) about Oliver's most interesting past (above).

Fun(d) Raisers

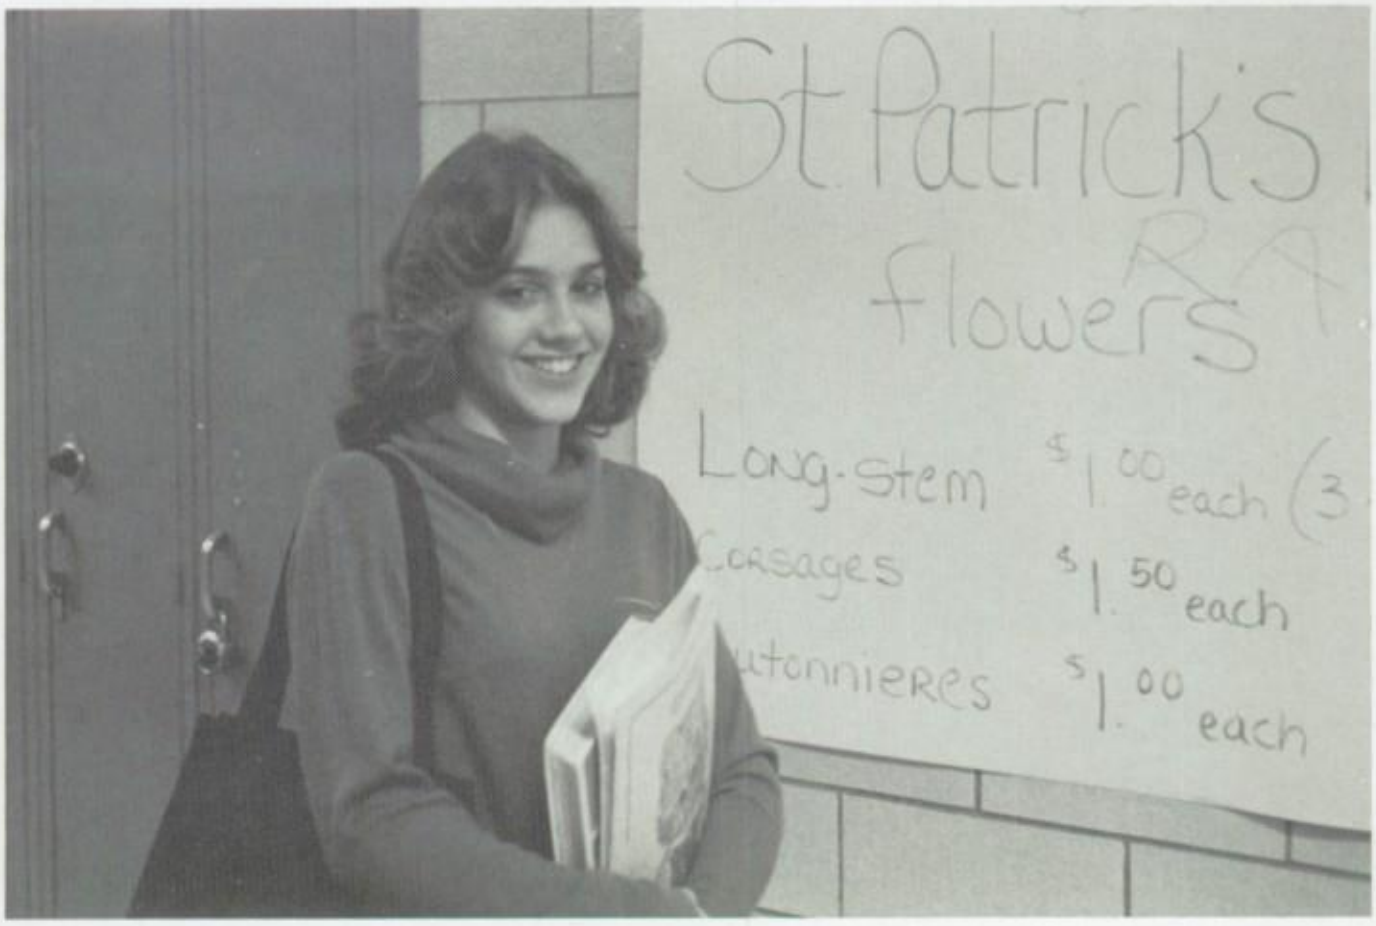
Do you dream to hit a principal or a teacher in the face with a whipped cream pie? For a handful of students the dream came true as the choir sold 25¢ tickets for their second annual pie-throw.

And you thought that you could see exotic dancing only in downtown Cleveland? Rosie's Rocking Rockets showed their legs to our students and stole the show at IOE's annual talent show fundraiser (and later appeared on tv for a repeat performance.)

Pro basketball players could take lessons from faculty and Rosie's Rockets, who helped raise several hundred dollars to contribute to the Heart Fund in memory of Tony Novak.

And, if you're romantic, you can aid organizations such as National Honor Society during their flower sale by buying a buddy a bud. Raising funds may involve work, but the methods are fun!

Mr. Oberst is the unfortunate target of Claudio Zanin.



Green carnations are sold in March, as Tanya Kravchuck models. At other times of the year you can buy red for a valentine, pink for a sweetheart, or white for a friend.

Rosie's Rockin Rockets kick their way into the hearts of us all.

During the last nine seconds of the game, Mr. Boehm dribbles the ball down the court, much to Rosie's Rockin Rockets' surprise.

The fans cheer for Rosie's Rockin Rockets as they finish another breath-stopping performance.

MUSIC

Mark Rein (above) takes a breather from the keyboard as he contemplates the decision of his next number. (Below) Just like the early days—devoted parents, many of them former band members themselves, fuss over their children on Parents' Night before the game. (Below, large circle) It's all in the fingers—the artistry of a perfect piano performance.

Note-able Memories

The music department has given the school much of which to be proud. The pep band has always been there to cheer on our persistent athletes to defeat our enemies in competition. Bel Canto sings the alma mater to remind us of our humble beginnings. Holidays become special seasons for the music department. The band and chorus join together to make Christmas sound warm and full of joy for everyone. The music department has been an inspiration to us all.

Kurt Keaton must have memorized his music and now has time to catch-up on the sports news.

Not all memories are joyous, as Laurie Sickle indicates in a pensive moment.

The band mascot keeps a watchful eye on the practices.

Love of music comes early: Mike Messer is one of the youngest members of Jazz band.

Memorable Performers: Local And National

The band has made some beautiful memories. Howie Smith joined the jazz band in a concert bringing a little bit of jazz to everyone. The band competed in local competition and received the honor of journeying to state competition, a first in band history. Holly Eleck, in a local competition, won the distinction of being named the best drum major around. All of these distinctions and awards were not given to the band members; they earned them through hard work and practice . . . admirable for all.

Laryngitis doesn't hamper Howie Smith from sharing his art with Mr. Sievert and the rest of the Jazz band. At right, bringing honors to the band, Holly Eleck displays her trophy. Her colleague, Dave Toth, was a candidate for McDonald's Marching Band.

A Whole Lot Of Talent At Halftime!

Providing entertainment to Royalton Football Fans at intermission is the job of the halftime corps. Comprised of the Majorettes, Royalettes, and Royalaires, these girls help to keep interest level and spirits high between halves. Majorettes Kris Metzger and Patty Salvaggi lead the band with their own brand of baton-twirling. The Royalettes and Royalaires follow with snappy dance routines and flaglines. The purple and gold jerseys of the Royalaires proclaim "Nobody does it better!" and that slogan appropriately fits this entire group of girls who make halftime more than just fifteen minutes of waiting.

Royalaires iron out any difficulties durning practice, as a flawless halftime show is a must. Danielle Laska leads the line during practice.

Making Beautiful Music!

Warm-ups are filled with the same genuine enthusiasm as performances, demonstrated by Jill Bates and Judy Grabowski.

Members of the Madrigal and Bel Canto choirs may sit on milk crates, but they have style and talent. Since their early days as the "Madrigal Chorale" in 1979, the members of the Madrigal Choir have been making beautiful music and great memories. Concerts were held seasonally, in the Spring, Fall, and at Christmas time, to enterain Royalton students. Competitiveness seems to preside as the favorite memory of the choir, as they include the OMEA District Choral Competition and State Choral Competition as their favorite memory.

The Bel Canto Choir is the "old-timer" of the two singing groups, having existed since the opening of the school. The members ere active and vocal in the Pioneer Conference Choral Festival and cited it as one of their favorite memor memories.

Many of the senior members of the choir have expressed a desire to study and perform music after graduation. Good luck to those and all the members for providing superior and entertainment for all!

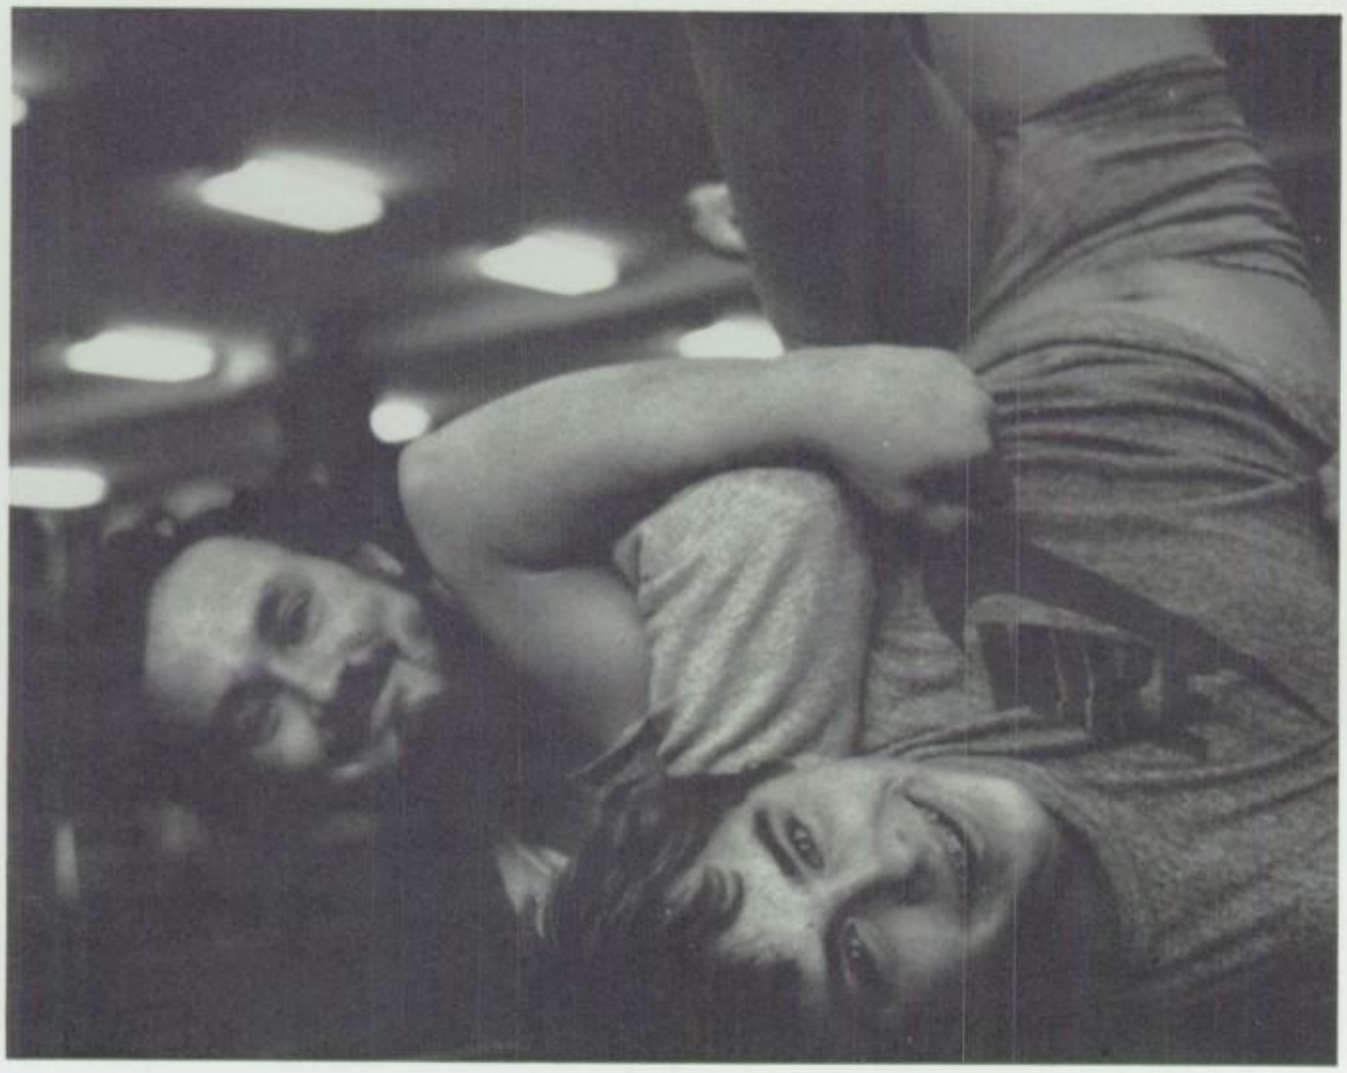
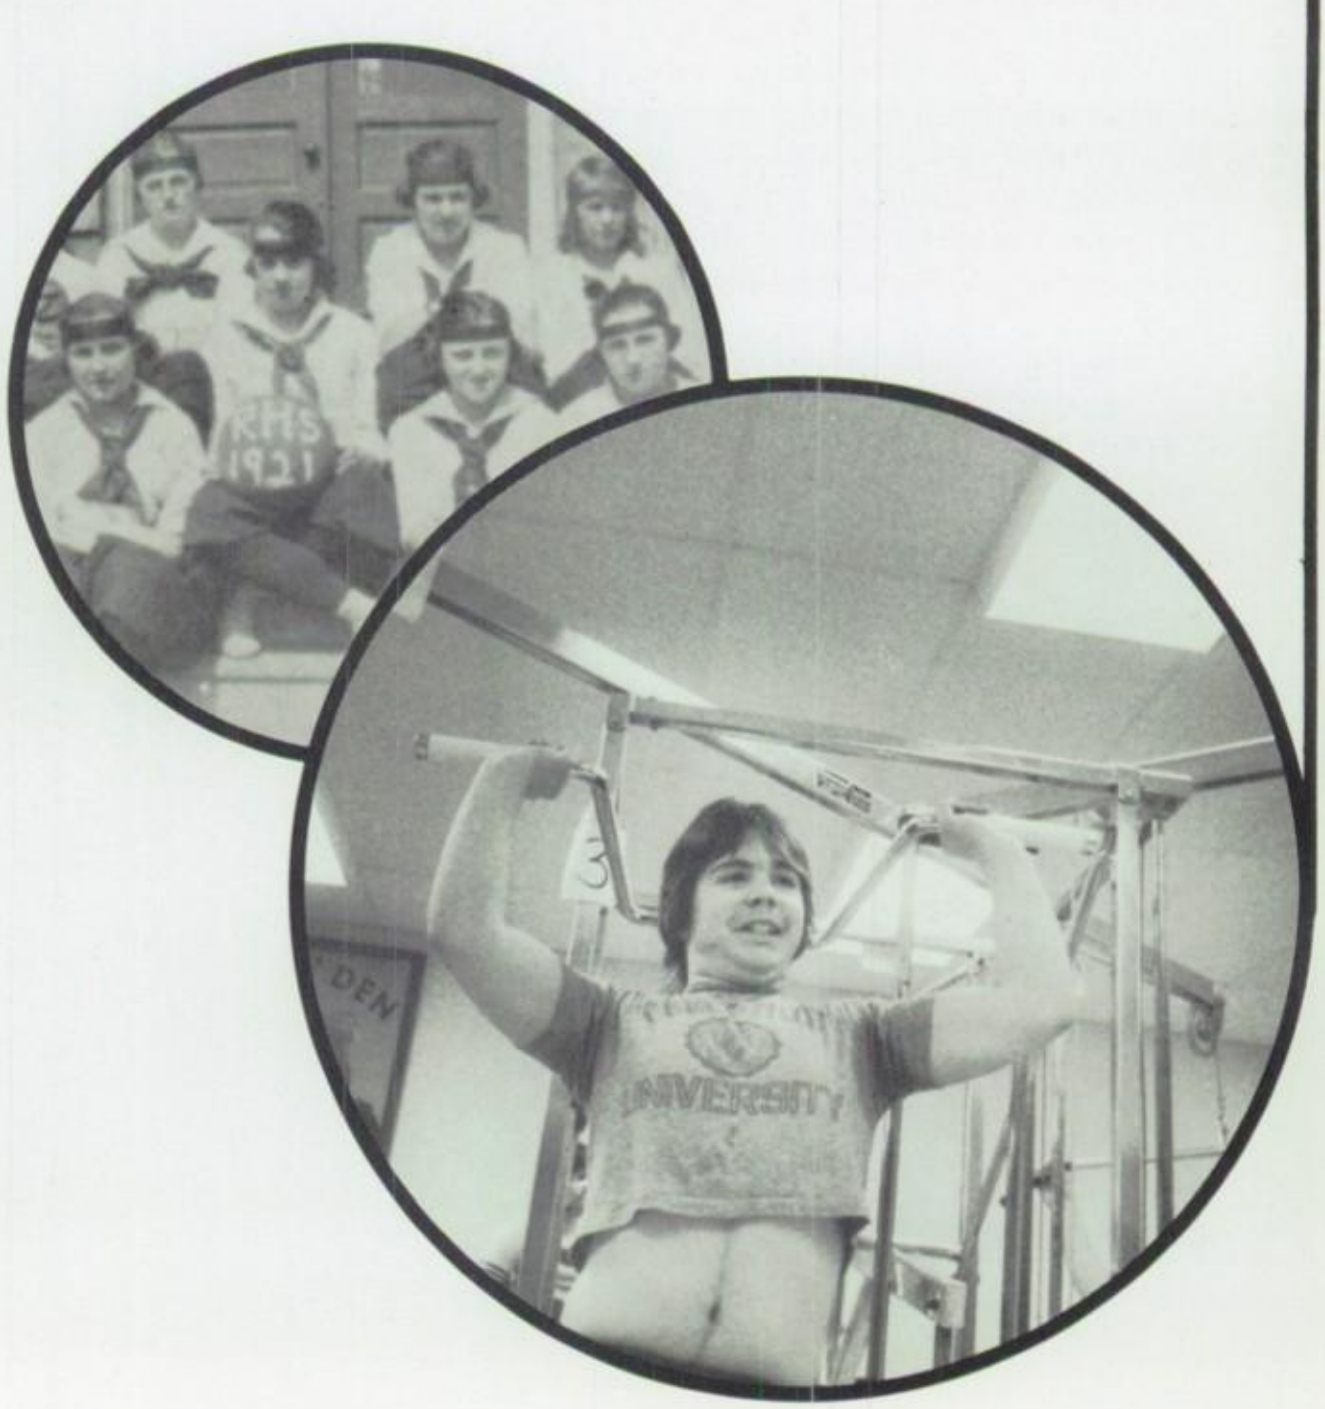
SPORTS



One of the several alumni who have returned to work here, Leo Saniuk (above) rarely lets himself be pinned during coaching duties for the wrestling team. Andy Zacharj doesn't seem to mind, however.

The Bena family, with members as staff and students here, are proud of Grandma Bena (formerly Irene Webster) and her membership on this 1921 basketball squad.

Team effort as the Bears' Den goes plush—community, Booster, staff and team members all helped in fundraising for the new weight room. Regan Reik (bottom circle) is pleased as he benefits from their efforts.



Sports: yesterday . . .

Trophies proclaiming long ago championships, . . . dusty playbooks speaking of the old strategies, . . . memories lingering in the minds of all those who were a part of it-the coaches, the players . . . all tell the story of the history of the Royalton sports program and its evolvement into what it is today.

The attitudes and formats over the passing years have changed considerably. Herman Joy, twenty years a part of Royalton sports, former Coach of the Year, and athletic director today, felt, "the development of girls' sports teams and the number of girls' sports today," is perhaps the most outstanding change of all from those solely male teams of yesteryear.

Alumni seem to have passed their competitive blood on to their children. Bill Munshower and Gary Puntel, former Royalton athletes, have sons and daughters active in the program today.

Royalton's athletic past has provided many memorable moments. For Mr. Joy the most vivid is the winning of two state championships in wrestling. Mr. Joy predicted the future for the Bears, "The teams are definitely getting better. An involved administration, better coaching, finer facilities, and talented high school athletes have made Royalton a seriously considered contender in the Pioneer Conference future." Thanks for the optimism, Mr. Joy, and thanks former supermen and superwomen for the memories.

and today

Outlook

Herman Joy, athletic director, recalls many memorable moments in N.R. sports history.

The trophy-filled showcase commemorates the tremendous athletic achievements of past and present competitors.

A backward glance

Rosemary Kabak is a study in concentration as she moves for the ball.

The 1982-83 version of the Girls' Tennis team will not remember being often victorious, but it always put up a worthy battle. Excitement and emotions ran high with a better than expected showing in the state sectional tournament. No records were established this year, but Holly Moorhead, a seasoned veteran, became the first person to letter in one sport on both the boys' and the girls' teams. Coached by Albion Middle School's Mr. Masino, the tennis team provided spectators with suspenseful court action and many memorable moments.

Going The Distance

Jim Orr and Erik Vokac concentrate on maintaining a steady pace.

Bernadette Jonozzo and Karen Orr, 3.1 mile record-breaker and record-setter, lead the pack.

Joel Minor placed in every invitational meet in which he ran.

The 1982-83 Boys' Cross Country team will unfortunately remember a dismal year; however, Coach Oberst praised the great team effort and outstanding individual effort, adding, "Royalton had a very young team in a senior dominated conference and will improve."

The Girls' team will remember much more success. Their overall record was 9 wins, 2 losses, highlighted by a 1st place finish in the Edgewater Classic. Karen Orr, Bernie Jonozzo, and Anne Parete led the Cookie team. Great job, girls!

Endurance

N.R. Golfers:

Future Jack Nicklauses?

Another great golf season was highlighted by tournament thrills and the arrival of a new golfer, Lisa Wenz. Royalton, playing in one of the toughest conferences in the state, finished 3rd in the Pioneer Tournament- no small feat considering the two teams in the first two spots qualified for the state tournament. Royalton individual accomplishments were many also. Lisa Wenz was the sole female member of the team and she became only the 3rd girl in Royalton history to letter in golf.

Serves, Spikes, Style, And Skill!

Char Osterland and Denise Baach swap volleyball anecdotes with an amused teammate.

The four volleyball teams provided non-stop action and thrills for many a devoted fan this season. The varsity was not always victorious, but the JV and underclass teams were remarkably strong. All the players possessed tremendous team spirit and gave 100%. Highlighters on the court included Patty Petrich, Sue Sopko, Vickie Felton, and Dawn Vokac. The 8th grade team was second in conference with the best servers ever on any 8th grade team. Thus, a look at future varsity squads can only be optimistic. All of these girls proved that devotion and cameraderie pay off in terrific moments.

In apparent irritation and disbelief, Coach Castanian calls a halt.

The Varsity Soccer team, coached by Mr. Castanian, had a very successful season. The team was victorious overall with a 10-5-2 record, 2-2 in the Pioneer Conference to place third, and 2-2 in the OSSL South to pull out second place. Coach Castanian's favorite memories of the season were "the exceptional team members" and a win over Chagrin - the 100th team win. Many players received honors while Lee Frantz broke a team record with most assists in one game (6). It's a season we won't soon forget! Great going, Bears!

Memorable Moments On The Field!

Rich Mayell reflects on lockerroom lecture.

Reflections:

A noticeable difference on this year's JV team was the presence of two girls— Allison Szymanski (right) and Kelly Truce. Mike Pugh (right) voiced his thoughts: "The first two weeks of conditioning were rough," he said, "but soon the girls fit right in and contributed." On a lighter note, Mike's funniest memory was Freshman Initiation—Mud Day. Girls and rookies were heaved into the mud and became slaves! A season well worth remembering!

Practices with Coach Rademaker are serious business.

This season saw a coaching change with the promotion of James Rademaker to Head Varsity Football Coach. "JR," as he is more commonly remembered, led the team to two victories and many close games. The team's biggest thrill was two victories in a row over Highland and Olmsted Falls, while the worst moment was a disappointing loss to rival Strongsville. The new coach's favorite memory was the 3-0 victory over Olmsted Falls in a hard-fought game. Team members will remember "buzz cut" hairstyles after the sweet victories.

This year's Bears had an arduous season but played with incredible stamina and a never-say-die attitude. Co-captained by Dan Stadler, John Minor, and Mike Deyarmin, the team went 2-8 but had many close losses. There were many individual accomplishments this season. Seniors Dwayne Sucku and Mike Deyarmin were named All-Conference; Dave Anderson had 65 passes for 600+ yards; 23 receptions by Sean Dodson and 4 interceptions apiece by Dwayne Sucku and Dan Stadler made this year a gratifying, spirited and memorable one for the team.

Fall Homecoming—Much preparation and hoopla occurred during the week before the big night. Queen candidates were nominated and introduced, pep rallies were held, and dress styles went weird and wacky every day of Spirit week, to celebrate. Finally it was the evening of the big game—a matchup with Olmsted Falls. Pre-game Festivities included the announcement of the Queen. A stunned Sue Killmer was crowned and the night was underway. A fierce low-scoring battle ensued, with Royalton shutting out Olmsted Falls 3-0. The traditions and the triumphs will all be remembered as grand successes.

Royalton Roundball

On the evening of January 14, the Winter Homecoming highlighted and complemented the most successful season in a modern era of North Royalton basketball.

Weeks of preparation were necessary for the production of the suspenseful evening. Yards of yellow crepe paper and rolls of purple streamers decorated the halls of Royalton High. Freshmen and seniors alike mulled over the decision of Homecoming Queen. Greeks clad only in togas and laurel wreaths accompanied 50's sock-hoppers boasting poodle skirts and saddle shoes through the days of Spirit Week. On the big night itself, Queen candidates primped and nervous fathers paced as they were choreographed through the steps to take on the gymnasium floor.

Finally, at approximately 7:30 p.m., pre-game festivities began. A rowdy, victory-hungry crowd cheered in anticipation; fingers crossed for a favorite candidate. The long-awaited announcement proclaimed Kelly Truce the new Queen, and the crowd voiced its appreciation of the stunned winner. This victory preceded another, our win over rival Brunswick. This triumph was not unique in the Cinderella season. The team was a comglomeration of seasoned veteran seniors and multi-talented juniors who blended into a precise, resourceful unit. Several neat-handed players' accomplishments distinguished them. Pat Potopsky and Scott Woods received 1st and 2nd team All-Conference recognition, while John Minor and Sean Dodson gained honorable mention. Scott Woods was selected for the Plain Dealer Dream Team, and the record-setting junior paced the team.

The Bears finished their exciting year with a victory over Brecksville and an overall 2nd place finish in the Pioneer Conference. Coach Hershey's round ballers provided superior entertainment for loyal fans starving for a winning team. The never-say-die style of play proved their devotion to excellence, and they made memories which will not soon be erased.

How the year went

This version of varsity girls' basketball was challenging—challenging because the team had to be rebuilt after the loss of several key players who had graduated the year before. Coach Boehm believes his team competed well, saying, " . . . we won 8 games and lost 5 by 5 points or less, which shows we were almost as good as most teams in the league."

Patty Petrich, Sue Sopko, and Rachel Stanaszek were recognized as vital members to the team's success. Elaine Cotronakis perhaps was the most outstanding player, breaking records set by the super-talents of the previous year and achieving PD Dream Team status. The team as a whole accomplished an 8-14 conference record.

JV basketball, coached by Bill Lehky and captained by Bernie Jonozzo also had a noteworthy if somewhat discouraging season. Leading performances by players Sherri Kilmer and Bernie enabled the team to triumph over Brecksville 31-29 in the last game of the season.

Good, bad, and bizarre episodes were no strangers to the 1982-83 Varsity Gymnastics team. Though Coach Carol Jackson's girls struggled through a discouraging season, a sense of humour and a fierce determination reigned. One memorable moment lightening the atmosphere occurred as Cindy Lutz performed a flawless beam routine-just before the dismount, she looked over at the coach with a big smile, lost balance, and fell off. Bad breaks and good fortune were equally felt as Anne Parete broke her arm on the vault prior to the season while Nicole Frantz placed first on the bars over 73 girls at the Richmond Heights Invitational Meet. A year of twists, turns, and flops, and one worth remembering . . .

Caution! Wrestlers At Work

When the exciting wrestling season came to a close, the Varsity was happy and well-deserving of recognition. Captains Craig Felton and Dwayne Sucku led this inspired squad to a 7-win/6-loss season. The overachievers' biggest and most unexpected thrill was defeating a tough Berea squad 29 to 26. Much praise goes to all, but especially to Jeff Scholtz, who placed fourth in the State and was Most Valuable Player of the Pioneer Conference and the Brunswick Tournament.

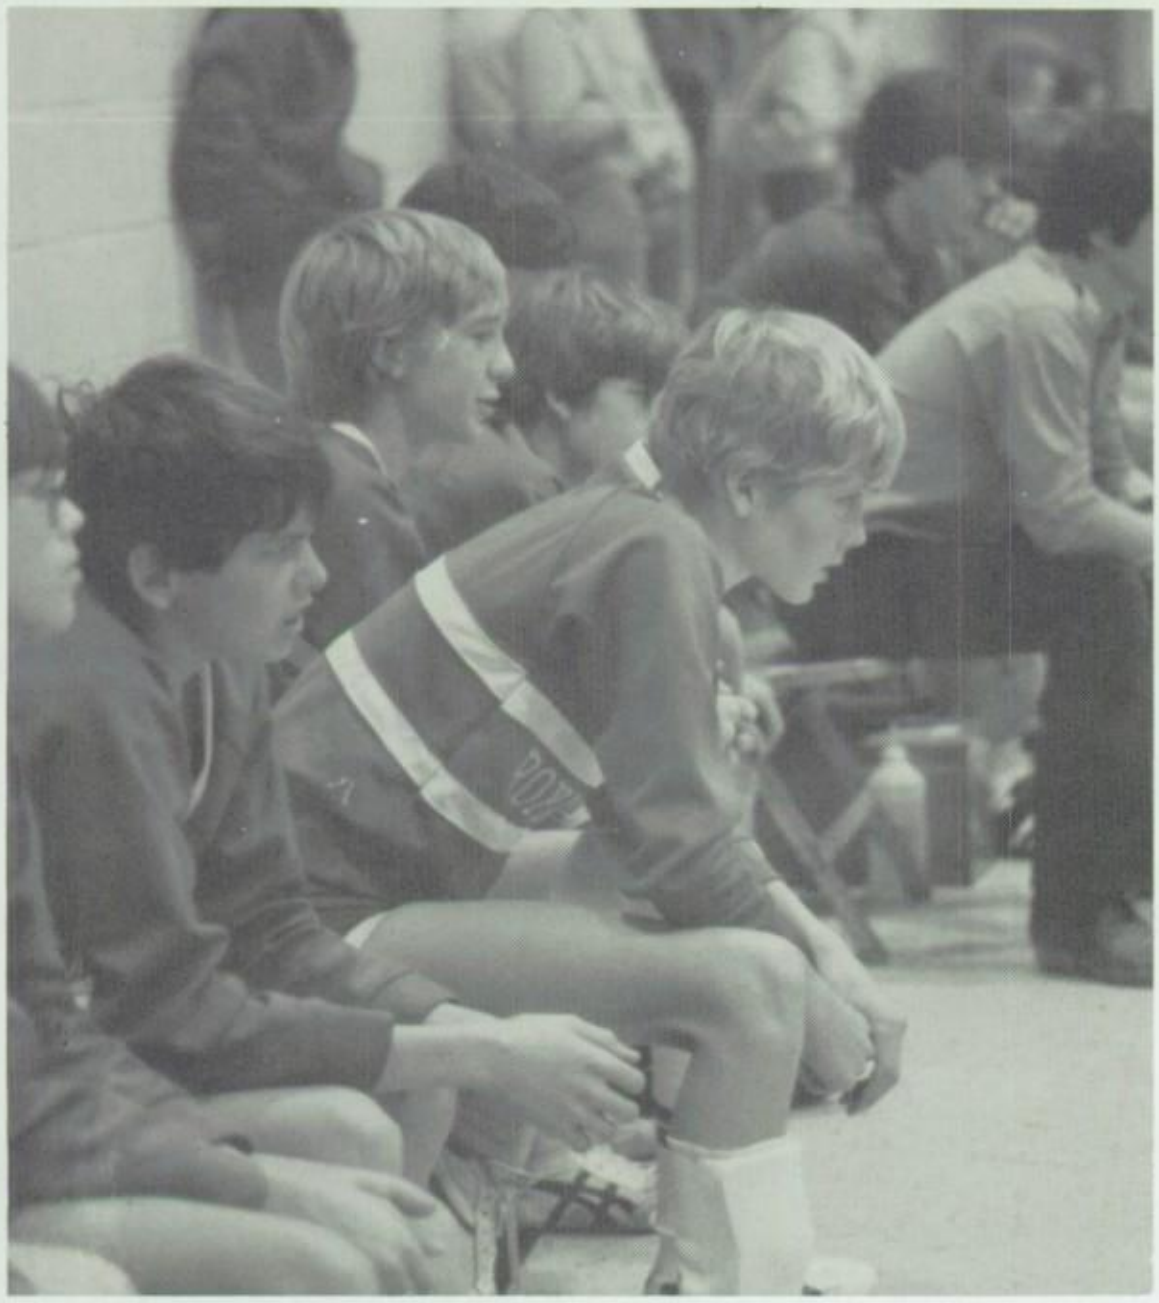
Beware Of The Bear Wrestlers



Sports In Summary

The 1982-83 wrestling season brought excitement and anticipation for the future to the 8th and 9th grade teams. John Scholtz and Mike Mayell, Royalton wrestling alumni, coached these young teams, and through their experience and know-how helped talent to develop. The 9th grade was especially outstanding, winning the Jr. Hi. Tournament and promoting many players to JV. The 8th grade wrestlers were small in number but big in heart, and their 2-7 record does not relate the true story. Ron Zywica was the team's noteworthy individual prospect coming up with a spectacular 17-0 record. These teams should turn the NR program around, and big things are expected of them in the next three years!

Memorable Talent And Spirit

Although the Varsity Track team did not show much improvement over the last year and Mr. Noble said that his worst moments were "Many," the team did have three very outstanding competitors who were recognized in their fields respected excellence. Pat Potopsky received an award for showing the best talent in distance running; and the display of most skill in Field Events went to Matt Petit.

A 1 and 6 record made this season a real disapointment to all who participated in Varsity Track this year. The ninth grade boys, although sporting a 0-6 record, are on their way to becoming champions.

Learning the trade by running, jumping, and throwing their way to a 1-5 record, the eighth grade team will also some day be great sportsmen.

Remember The Effort

The Varsity Girls Track, although having a win/loss record of 1-6, did accomplish much this season. Many runners showed notable improvement. Wendy Watrobski received the Most Improved Player award, and Karen Orr was the Most Valuable Player. Mrs. Jones, coach, was "happy to work with dedicated, hardworking girls."

The eight thand ninth graders obtained 3-5 and 1-6 records respectively. Ninth grader Jeanine Gergel was awarded MVP, and Diane Vargo was given the Most Improved award. The eighth graders were great this season as they broke 7 of 13 possible records, for a memorable first season.

Marti Milicic (left) anticipates one of her obstacles as she attempts to qualify for the final race.

Watching shot-put between races, Sheila Applebee interrupts her viewing to speak to a teammate.

Royalton remembers a .500 season mark

Sherri Killmer prepares to circle the diamond after unleashing a solid base hit.

Last minute advice is given, strategy is discussed, and "good lucks" are voiced as Royalton teammates huddle around JV Coach May a few minutes prior to game time.

Batting helmets, bats, catcher's masks . . . the equipment lies docilely against the fence awaiting the competitive contest which will soon erupt on the playing field.

Pow-(Wow)!

Play ball!

Kelly Truce waits on deck, hoping she'll get an opportunity to aid in the scoring drive.

JV Softball (Kneeling)-Melissa Holzman, Barb Ineman, Cathy Ahrens, Danielle Laska, Michelle Kaczorek, Jennifer Stanaszek, Sherri Killmer (Back)-Coach May, Michele Bromeier, Melissa Findura, Cathy Masseria, Angela Dodig, Lisa Pavlovicz, Tracy Nelich, Jody Karachuta, Miss Podolny

Royalton was well represented this spring by a productive Varsity Softball team and a JV team indicating a winning future. The Varsity squad, coached by Mr. Laurenzi, rounded off their season with a 6-6 record. This .500 mark does not tell the story of the individual accomplishments, however. Patty Petrich led the team with a powerful .461 batting average, and Kris Greczanik and Char Osterland also had hot bats with respective averages of .400 and .375. Asked about his favorite memory of this 1983 season, Coach Laurenzi replied, "Watching the young players handle the pressure of performing on the varsity level."

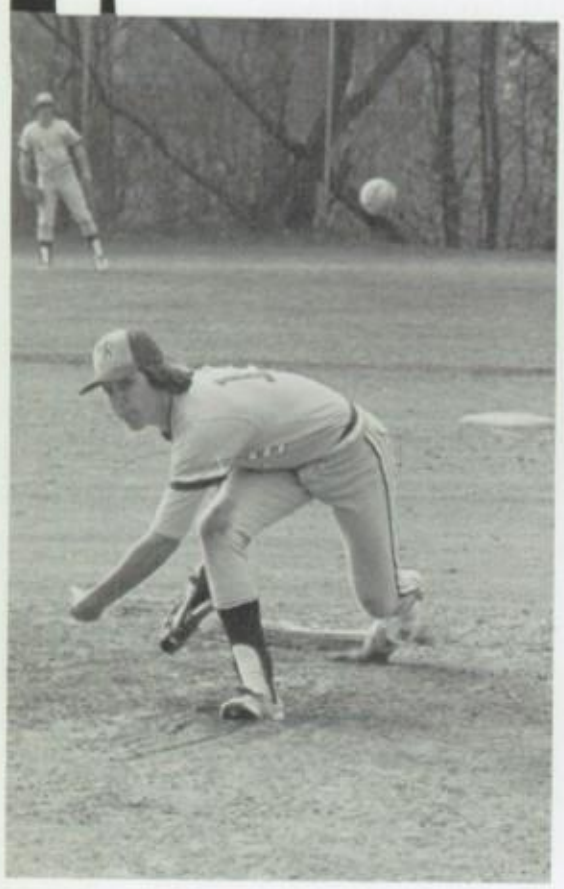
The JV team, coached by Bruce May, rallied to an impressive 7-4 team mark. Several memories prevailed in Coach May's mind, but his most memorable was seeing Danielle Laska hit a pitch that bounced twice for a two-run single to beat Midpark 7-5.

Great going Bears-your hot bats and high spirits filled many a spectator's mind with memories!

Overview:

Royalton Fever . . .

Catch it and be a believer!



Giving credibility to the theory that good pitching wins a baseball game, Jim Blondin expertly releases the pitch.

On deck. Captain Hank Stolarski takes a short breather as he awaits his turn at the plate.

Confrontation. Varsity Coach Wotowiec calmly suggests to the umpire that he adjust his eyeglasses and re-assess the situation at hand.

"Take me out to the ballgame," . . . to see the winning ways of the JV and Varsity Baseball Bears. The Varsity squad had a hard-fought, if a losing, season. Beating arch-rival Strongsville, however, was a big thrill for the team which had several bright spots. Ken Gozelanczyk caught the opponents' eye as his superb playing and team high .396 batting average earned him PD Dream Team status and 1st Team All-Conferance.

Coming on strong also were the 11-5 JV Bears coached by Mr. Gruen and paced by leading performers Greg Hildebrand, Jeff Petruska, and Alex Sainato. While losing a doubleheader to Highland was Coach Gruen's worst moment, he stated, "All eighteen boys participated and contributed to our success, and we defeated every team in our conference at least once." . . . Thanks for a fine season, Bears, and we'll keep coming back as long as you keep coming back!

How Do They Remember . . .

Being a cheerleader is much more demanding than our alumnae's jobs were. Psych notes and posters and the creation of new cheers and routines are among the requirements. Varsity members also train squads in lower grades. Above, the Varsity squad in one of its formations: (Bottom) Chris Kuhn, Michelle Gerrick, (Second row, bending) Melanie Hritz, Lisa Rolinc (Third row) Pam Myers, Kristie DeAnna, JoAnne Fertal (Fourth row) Cindy Lutz, Valerie Blondin, Linda Lizzini (Top) Felicia DeMattie

Fashion fads prove practical on cold Friday nights. Lisa Rolinc, Valerie Blondin and the other cheerleaders wear leg warmers to keep out the chill of an early Fall evening.

Our spirited Junior Varsity Cheerleaders have duties similar to those of the Varsity, including performing fancy footwork and loud cheers to keep the fans rowdy. Above, (Bottom) Laura Drlik (Second row) Nicole Frantz, Nicki Simon, Carri Woolley, Dayna Doty, Penny DeMattie, Denise Smith (Third row) Terri Sanders

9th Grade Squad - (Bottom) Karrie Munshower and Kim Kendren; (Top) Debbie Baach, Lisa Svoboda and Jenny Stang

Finding ways to stay warm against the wind chill, Tracey Lucek participates in tosses while Missy Spitz and Lisa Warriner rub cold fingers before the game.

Tribute . . .

Throughout the year, many memorable moments can be recalled. Included on that list of memories are those acquired while attending a sporting event . . . a touchdown in the final few minutes of the fourth quarter, a riveting pitchers' duel, a race that goes down to the wire.

Though many participate and are vital contributors to success, and in most instances it is the team effort which wins, not the individual effort, a select group of athletes have distinguished themselves above all others.

These athletes are recognized for their outstanding achievements. Coaches, fellow players, and the media have honored these individuals for their years of dedication and the result of their hard work-excellence in their chosen field. With a feeling of pride we pay tribute to these athletes who have suffered disappointments, continued on, and triumphed. Their own particular brand of excellence will provide an inspiration for a student body and a community who will remember those achievements and hold that spirit in their memories for years to come.

UNDERCLASS

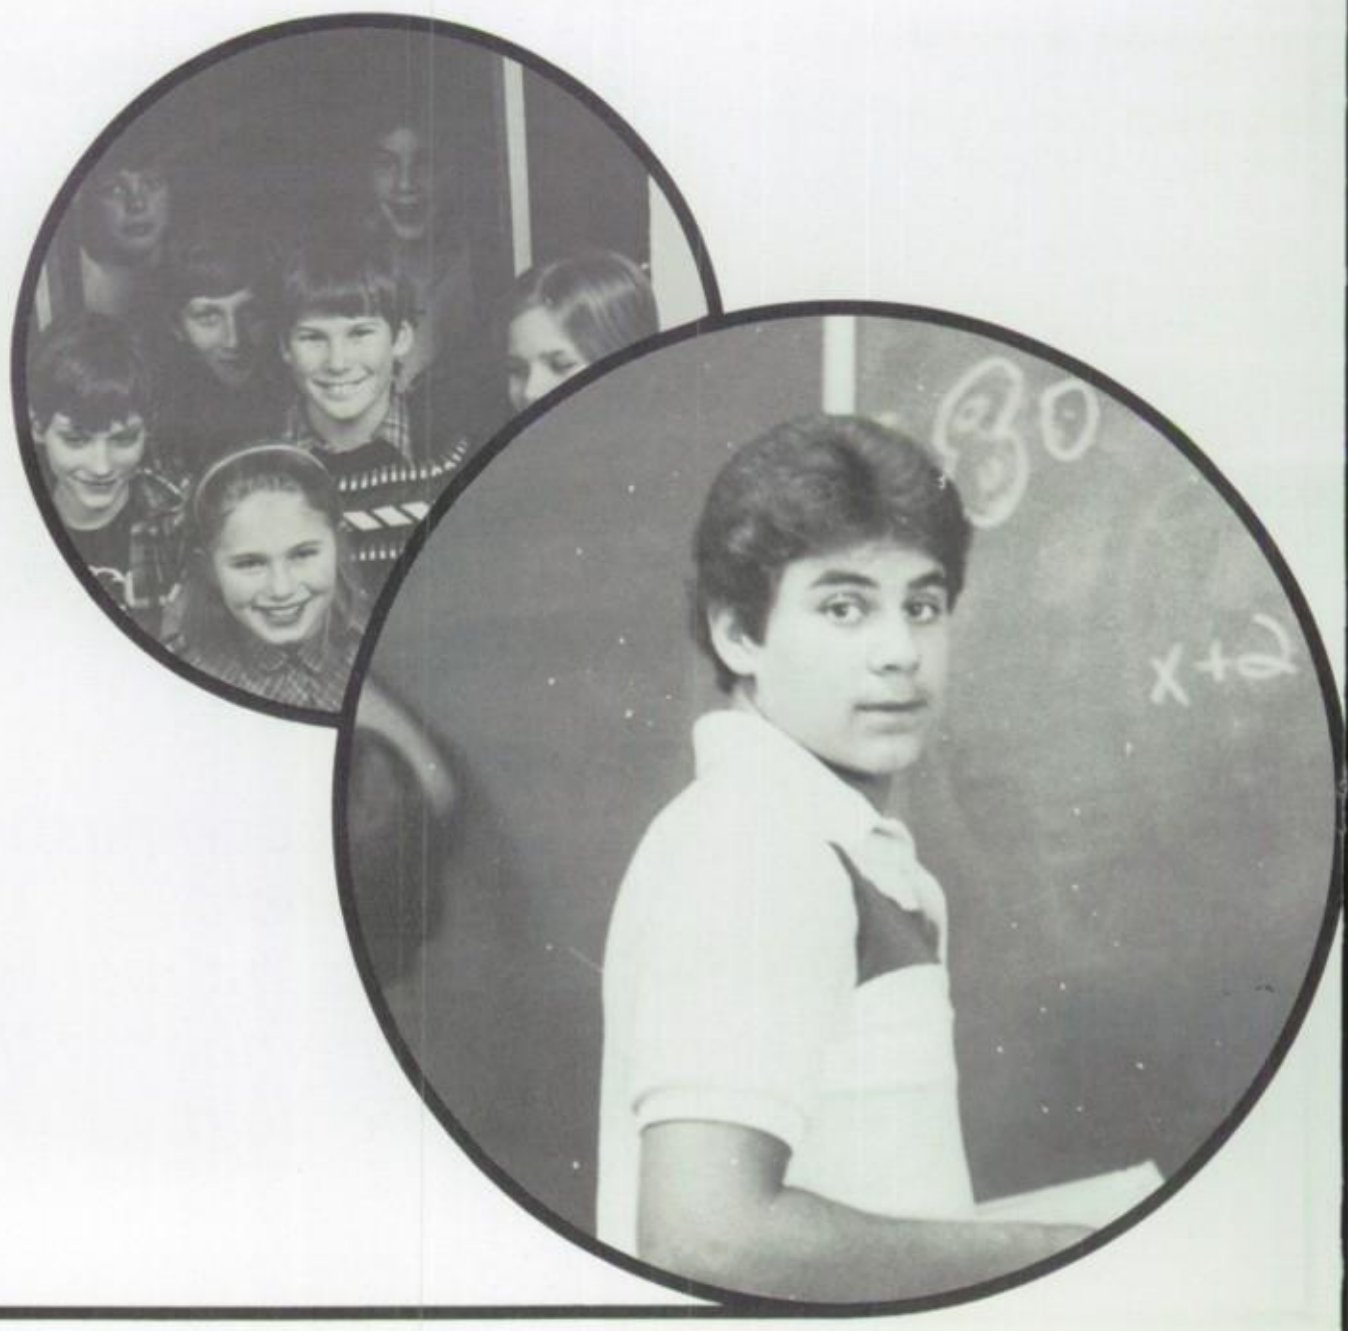
Future underclassmen get a taste of high school: Nick Lisco, Mindy Linder, Tracy Smith, Mark Niedermeyer, Tony Zarlenga and Joey Leonti visit the high school darkroom for instruction by Paragon photography staff (small circle).

Keeping up with his math skills, Angelo DiCenso works algebra problems during the summer school session.



Juniors Can't Wait To Be Seniors!

Being a junior is listening to the seniors talk about Senior Prom, Senior Cut Day and Senior Prank. Memories will remain of wanting to be a part of all that. Memories will be watching seniors in their senior T-shirts, counting down the days. Remembering my junior year will be remembering how I couldn't wait to be a senior.

What I think was special about my junior year was that I was looked up to. Instead of asking questions, I was being asked questions. I felt kind of a sense of wisdom and leadership. Most important I noticed myself growing up, hanging with kids my own age, showing responsibility.

Being a junior this year makes me feel good. I only have one more year of school left. I tried some new things in my junior year, like skiing (What a wipe-out!) and bowling (I did pretty well.) But, the best thing about being a junior is looking forward to being a senior. They have all the fun. Everything is looked upon as being for the seniors. So, the best thing about being a junior is completing 180 days of school successfully.

Sophomore Memories Despite:

For tenth graders of previous generations, this grade may not have been memorable, but our tenth graders remember their first year in mini-gym courses, self-scheduling, and driver training. For some, this was their last year as full-time students in this building, since they'll be attending vocational school next year. Those who applied will remember eagerly checking the list of "those who made it" posted on the counselors' office window. This was tenth graders' first year of being considered upperclassmen, and the decisions and responsibilities they faced were prices of this new-found status.

Above, Matt Shoaff enjoys the solitude of the library carrels, while Tish Lobaza, upper right, prefers the relaxation of a phone call during study hours.

Greg Hildebrand, below, and Lesley McCune, right, portray the pleasures of the physical arts vs. the fine arts.

Secretary Tim Dimitrejevs and Vice-President Jim Orr display the "laid back" mood of the class, while President Lori Drlik and Treasurer Leah Hanwell show the more thoughtful side.

Sibling Senior Memories

Several Freshmen have in their families Seniors who remember what is was like to be a Freshman in 1980, and there were some differences. Today's fads include designer clothes, preppy styles and leather jackets, but back then everyone was wearing jeans and t-shirts, and the "in" thing was roller skating. Interests in activities are still as varied, and both groups felt that their accomplishment by the age of 25 should be to have a stable job. Today's Freshmen feel that new friends and sports are the more memorable things about ninth grade. But Seniors such as Hank Stolarski, Joe Bena, Marlene Popik and Steve Sak remember looking forward to vacations.

Good people to know . . .

As all 9th graders must learn how to do CPR in their required health class, Marla Gerrick and Scott Ineman are practicing to save lives.

Eighth graders listen attentively to Mr. Gibson, at right.

Most eighth graders will remember their first day at high school as a hectic one. Most got lost in one way or another, by going down the wrong steps or turning the "wrong" corner. It was dismaying to find oneself in the west building when he was headed for the east.

On the second day almost everybody in the eighth grade knew where they were going or at least where they wanted to go.

By the end of the first week everyone know where they had to go and how to get there, even if they didn't want to go. Now it all comes naturally. That is, they are used to all of their teachers and where their teachers' rooms are.

They will remember the big changes from middle school to high school life, such as having more privileges than in elementary school and not going out for recess. They will remember making a lot of new friends in different classes — that is, more than they already had — not getting "stuck" with the same kids in all of their classes.

Some kids remember not liking the two buildings, west and east, especially when one class was beginning clear over in the east when they were still at their lockers in the west building.

Rookies

The eighth grade executive branch is represented by Tammy McCune, Tracey Lucek, Yvonne Pabin, and Lisa Warriner.

The seriousness of eighth grade orientation is expressed in many different ways on the faces of David Wilson, Eric Konieczynski, Matt DiCenzi, and Robert Kurlow.

Five hundred fifty copies of the 1983 Paragon were sold. The book was published at the State College PA plant of Josten's American Yearbook Company. The publishing price per copy was approximately $21.82, and the purchasing price was $15.00. Approximately $6.82 of each book was paid for by our advertisers and patrons. The type style was News Gothic and News Gothic Bold in 8 pt. and 10 pt. size copy and 18 pt. and 30 pt. headlines.

Heartfelt thanks are extended to the following contributors in our memory-making process: The Class of '83 for their donation to balance our budget; Alumni Association for supplying photos and memories; Mr. Schneck for big shoulders to cry on; Mr. Gibson for enthusiasm; Mrs. Dessem for moral support; Mr. and Mrs. Swim for the use of their home; All of the Paragon parents for their unfailing patience and support. Once again-Thank You.

North Royalton . . . We're leaving but we're staying. Graduation brings the desire to leave home and take the world by storm . . . Yet, we return. Why? Why do so many people come back to live and work here?

Maybe it's the memories-the times we can't seem to forget but don't really want to, either . . . Must have something to keep 'em coming back. Whatever that something is, we hope we've captured it and hope it'll keep you coming back, too!

Goodbye
